Catherine R. Smith of Ellenville, NY passed away unexpectedly on Sunday, February 16, 2020. She was 68 years old. Cathy was born on November 21, 1951 in Kingston, NY; she was the daughter of the late Calvin and Lucretia (Hull) Ashley.

Cathy graduated from Ellenville High School 'Class of 1966." She furthered her education at SUNY Ulster where she received her nursing degree. Cathy had worked as a Registered Nurse for Ellenville Regional Hospital up until the day she died.

Written by a dear friend: "Cathy Smith is the most selfless person our town has ever known. She would do anything for anyone in need. No matter who, no matter what, no matter where, no matter when. She spent years upon years as a devoted nurse who saw past the patient and into the eyes of every human being she ever cared for. Her daughter Heather, Heather's husband Freddie, Grandson Gavin, and granddaughter Adi filled her heart with more love than most of us come to know in a lifetime. She still somehow had room for more. Her family was her entire world, and yet the entire world was her family. Missing her is now a part of all of us. Though we all will still feel her around us, making sure we're all ok.3

Also surviving is Cathy's sister, Bertha Decker.

In addition to her parents, Cathy was predeceased by her husband James Smith and her brother Henry Ashley.

A memorial visitation was held at Loucks Funeral Home, Ellenville, NY on Saturday, February 29th with a celebration of her life beginning at 6:30 that evening.

In lieu of flowers contributions may be made in Cathy's name to the Ellenville Regional Hospital.

Looking for Signs of Spring

There are reports from some hearty anglers that fish are biting! Of course, you have to dig a hole through the thick ice.

The snow, ice and cold temperatures over the past week doest't quite reflect the Groundhog's Prediction winter is still not over!

But there are certain signs that point in a positive direction, that it won't be too much longer. One of those indicators are that locals are getting sap for maple syrup.

Here and there you will still see some old-fashioned maple syrup buckets hung on taps indicating that the trees are waking up and the sap has begun to flow. And of course, you will see many places in the Tri-Valley area where a more sophisticated network has been set up to gather sap from the maple trees

What causes the sap to flow out of the trees?

Weather is a crucial factor for a good harvest of maple syrup. Tapping trees occurs in late winter and early spring. During cooler periods when temperatures fall below freezing, a suction called negative pressure develops, drawing water into the tree through the roots. A rise in temperature of the sapwood from below freezing at night to above 32 degrees Fahrenheit during the day causes a positive pressure within the wood. This pressure produces the sap flow. Looking ahead at the weather forecast for next few week, it looks like the perfect combination may continue into early March.

The sap flows through a portion of the outer tree trunk called sapwood. Sapwood consists of actively growing cells that conduct water and nutrients (sap) from the roots to the branches of the tree. During the day, activity in the cells of sapwood produces carbon dioxide. This carbon dioxide is released to the intercellular spaces in the sapwood. In addition, carbon dioxide in sap is released into the spaces between the cells. Both of these sources of carbon dioxide cause pressure to build up in the cells. A third source of pressure is called osmotic pressure, which is caused by the presence of sugar and other substances dissolved in the sap.

At night or during other times when temperatures go below freezing, the carbon dioxide cools and therefore contracts. Some of the carbon dioxide also becomes dissolved in the cooled sap. Finally, some of the sap freezes. All of these factors create suction in the tree. This causes water from the soil to be drawn up into the roots and travel up through the sapwood. When temperatures rise above freezing the sap flow begins again.

Thus, the cycle of warm and cool periods is essential for sap flow. Temperatures too warm or too cool during the sap season" will reduce the amount of sap flow resulting in lower maple syrup production.

Good sap years also depend on the growing season of the previous summer to store as much carbohydrates as possible in the form of starch. The stored starch reserves convert to sucrose and are dissolved in the sap as spring approaches. The amount of sugar (sucrose) in the springtime sap depends on many factors including tree genetics, leaf mass, site conditions, amount of sun the previous growing season and overall tree health.

How long can a maple tree produce sap? As long as a tree remains healthy, it should continue to produce sap for years if not decades. In fact, it has been noted some trees have been producing sap for more than 100 years! A healthy tree, when properly tapped, should not suffer any adverse health effects and should be able to produce sap for many years to come.

Next time you are having pancakes, waffles or French Toast covered in pure maple syrup, keep in mind that it takes approximately 40 gallons of sap to produce just one delicious gallon of fresh maple syrup!

This Side of Night Mysterious Book Report No. 394

by John Dwaine McKenna

It is an undeniable fact that the entire southern border of the United States is in a crisis of epic proportions. Drugs and illegals are pouring into America, while unbelievable amounts of currency, and firearms of all shapes and sizes are flowing south. At the same time, the government of Mexico is being overwhelmed by the drug cartels with endless amounts of cash and sicarios, or gunmen, to do their dirty bloody work.

Now, in an electrifying crime fiction thriller entitled This Side of Night, (Putnam/Penguin Random House, $26.00, 454 pages, ISBN 978-0-7352-1291-6) by J. Todd Scott, the drugs and violence are spilling across the border . . . into the lonesome, wild and remote part of west Texas that's known as the "Big Bend Area," where the Lone Star State nestles up against the Rio Grande River . . . just a hard stones throw from Ojinaga, Mexico, where the Nemesio Cartel and it's aging leader, Fox Uno, are clinging to power.

When a busload of protestors is massacred in the Mexican borderlands, the finger of blame is pointed at the Nemesio Cartel, which controls the region. But as the outage grows and public pressure increases for the government to step in, clear out the cartels and return law and order to the land, El Patron, the aging and feared head of the Nemesio Cartel, sees the atrocity for what it is . . . a naked attempt at a takeover. The question is, by whom . . . another cartel, or someone closer?

As the violence, and the drugs, and the people begin spilling across the river from Ojinaga into the small town of Murfee, Texas, Sheriff Chris Cherry and his deputies, America Reynosa and Danny Ford are all caught up in Fox Uno's war and his struggle to survive the legions of murderous assassing sent to kill him and his six year-old daughter named Zeta.

Stamped with authenticity and the iron ring of truth on every page, This Side of Night announces in a loud and clear voice the arrival of a distinct, authoritative and compelling fresh face in crime fiction!

SC Human Rights & S.A.L.T. Hosts 'Hate Has No Home' Vigil in Callicoon

Monticello, NY - The Sullivan County Human Rights Commission, in partnership with Sullivan Allies Leading Together (SALT) and the Callicoon Business Association hosted a vigil for the Sullivan County Community at the Callicoon Train Depot on Sunday.

"The vigil is our statement: 'Hate Has No Home in Sullivan County'," Human Rights Commission Chair Martin Colavito explains. "By attending, we stated that our hearts and minds will always be connected with those who have suffered directly or indirectly from attacks upon faith, race or identity."

Speakers included various faith-based clergy. The event was non-partisan.

The Sullivan County Human Rights Commission is dedicated to fostering mutual respect and understanding for the rights of all persons in Sullivan County. Meetings, open to the public, are held on the second Thursday of each month in the Legislative Meeting Room of the Sullivan County Government Center, 100 North Street, Monticello.

Legislators Ask for Sales Tax Increase in Response to State's Unfunded Mandates

Monticello, NY - The Sullivan County Legislature this week unanimously agreed to ask New York State to increase the local share of the sales tax by half a percent, requesting a raise in the current rate from 4% to 4.5%. (The State collects an additional 4%, so if the State grants the request, sales tax in Sullivan County would increase from 8% to 8.5%.)

"This request is a direct result of the increased burdens New York demands we shoulder," explained Legislature Chairman Rob Doherty. "The State had us construct a $100 million jail that's now too big for our needs, thanks to State-enacted bail reform. The NYS Office of Court Administration is directing us to build - at our expense - an addition to the County Courthouse to meet State needs, not County concerns. The State still doesn't pay its full third of SUNY Sullivan's budget. The proposed 2020-2021 Executive Budget threatens to shift millions of dollars in Medicaid costs back to Sullivan County. And we continue to stagger under the enormous weight of ongoing unfunded State mandates.

"Our repeated pleas for relief have gone ignored, so all we have left is the choice to raise taxes or cut services," he continued. "Reducing or eliminating programs threatens to harm our neediest. Raising property taxes isn't a better answer. So the County Legislature unanimously agreed that requesting a sales tax increase of just half a percent would raise revenue to cover increased Statederived costs - and should the State approve the increase, would spread the impact beyond just our property taxpayers to all residents and visitors. It's the fairest - and really the only - choice we could make, and it's one that other counties around us, including Orange, have been making too."

The Olive Jar- By Carol Olsen LaMonda How to "Kill Your Darlings"

How to "Kill Your Darlings" First of all, let me clarify that I am not advocating murder or homicide here. This phrase just seems to apply to my current situation of purging my lady loft of stuff, stuff that I accumulated because I, or someone I loved, bought or created it. Forget "Spark Joy." At one time all this stuff sparked joy; now its value has to pass through these three gates:

Do I want the stuff or the space?

Do I want to wash it and dust it? Do I want to warehouse it?

Years ago I had a student teacher named Nicole who is now a fine teacher herself. She was doing a lesson on how writers also need to be self-editors. She used the phrase, "Kill your darlings." What that meant was a writer sometimes needs to cut, cull, or delete some passages to make the essay better. What it implies is the attachment we have to things we have created.

The first gate is the goal to have more space and less stuff that someone else will have to deal with. I look at stuff and ask myself, "At a yard sale, what price tag will my kids place on the valuable item?" Chances are most of it will wind up as landfill, give-away, or with a cents sign, not a dollar sign. Better to have less.

The second gate is the maintenance issue. It is work to wash, dust and fix these treasures, most of which reside on every horizontal surface there is. Again the goal is space. It might be interesting to see the surface of that mission oak sidebar.

The third gate is do I want to warehouse it? Most of what resides in file cabinets, boxes, baskets and closets is placed there never to be seen or used again. Why am I keeping electric bill statements from a house I no longer own or a two-piece bathing suit I will never, ever wear? The one exception to this is I now fit in those pants that were two sizes too small for years, but now the dilemma is I might regain lost weight and need them. Decisions, decisions. That is when I remind myself of Nicole's message, "Sometimes you need to kill your darlings." I can always go shopping.

I will keep repeating this as I attempt to throw away scores of greeting cards from family and friends or photos of babies, who all look alike, and I can no longer identify because I never marked names on them. It is time to give away craft projects I ambitiously bought supplies for but never mustered the energy to complete. Besides, why should I knit a hat or scarf when I have to cull a dozen I own down to a manageable few.

Beware people. If you make the mistake of admiring an object or painting, you might own it.

UC Executive Pat Ryan Announces Roll Out of Mobile County Government Initiative

County Government will go on the road to bring services to residents in every corner of the County KINGSTON, N.Y. - Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan announced today the roll out of his Mobile County Government Initiative that will take County Government on the road and directly bring resources to residents across the County. County Executive Ryan will join other County employees, including Department Heads, who will work out of town offices alongside town officials. A part of the County Executive's 'Responsive and Responsible Government' initiative as one of his Big Five priorities, Mobile Government is a first of its kind program that will allow the County to better understand local concerns while providing essential services at scheduled locations all across Ulster County. There will be five locations in each quarter of 2020.

The first five regions for the first quarter are as follows:

• Marlborough - Monday, February 24, 10:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m. Marlborough Town Courtroom.

• Shandaken - Friday, March 6, 10:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m., Shandaken Town Hall.

"One of the main themes that I have heard in the 20 plus Town Halls I have done, is that people want a direct personal relationship with their government,"said County Executive Ryan. "Kingston should not be the only option for residents to receive services. We will be coming to communities in every part of our County to ensure that people are receiving what they need with the convenience of doing it in their own backyard."

The Mobile County Government will provide services from the County Clerk's Department of Motor Vehicle (DMV) van, which can be used for vehicle registration and licenses to representatives from other Ulster County Governmental departments such as the Veteran Services Agency who will be available to provide support to County veterans and their families.

"Our office is looking forward to collaborating with Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan on his initiative to bring County Services on the road," said Ulster County Clerk Nina Postupack. "As we have done in the past, our DMV bus will be at these selected sites offering customers the ability to process DMV transactions throughout the day. What a wonderful opportunity for our office to work with other County departments to expand mobile services throughout the region."

UC Execitove Pat Ryan Announces Decline in Opiod Fatalities in UC County-wide opioid deaths were down 41.1% in

2019 compared to the previous year

KINGSTON, N.Y. - Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan and the Ulster County Department of Health announced today that opioid related fatalities have significantly decreased in Ulster County. In 2019, there were 33 opioid related fatalities in comparison to 56 the previous year, representing a 41.1 percent decrease. One of County Executive Ryan's 'Big Five' priorities is to ramp up County-wide efforts to combat the opioid epidemic. In July of last year, County Executive Ryan set a goal to reduce opioid related fatalities by 50 percent in two years.

"The sharp reduction in opioid fatalities is a sign that the steps we have taken to combat this public health crisis are working," said Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan. "Even with this good news we still have plenty of work to do. This is an issue that I take extremely seriously and we will continue to work with our many partners to continue to raise awareness and work to save lives."

County Executive Ryan's 2020 budget provided additional funding to the Sheriff's Department to support Sheriff Figueroa's innovative ORACLE program. The funds help provide two new officers who support an overdose response team that includes a plain clothes officer, a mental health professional, and a peer advocate that will respond within 72 hours to meet with individuals who have suffered an overdose.

In addition, Ulster County started implementing a $2.5 million dollar, three year long grant designed to identify and close the gaps in our current prevention and treatment system.

One of the core parts of Ulster County's opioid prevention strategy is to work with EMS and community partners to expand accessibility to Naloxone. Ulster County is now tied for sixth place (out of 62 counties in New York State) for EMS Administered Naloxone. Naloxone, otherwise known as Narcan, is a medication that can immediately reverse an opioid overdose.

Opioid-related deaths in Ulster County had increased by 345 percent since 2010, culminating in 2018 with the second highest per-capita rate of opioid fatalities of any county in New York State.

SCDW Opens 71st Season with Rousing "Valentine Cabaret" at Re-designed SC Museum

The Sullivan County Dramatic Workshop opened its 71st season (wow!) with a rousing "Valentine Cabaret" at a redesigned Sullivan County Museum rear auditorium in Hurleyville, with three shows on February 14, 15 and 16.

71 consecutive years of dramatic plays and musicals is quite a record in our sleepy little village, noted Master of Ceremonies Peter Nastasi.

A major renovation this year initiated by Producer and Director Jim Schmidt was moving the entire show down off of the stage and setting up on the ground at the back of the Sullivan County Museum Auditorium. With the musicians behind them, the performances were level with the audience. It made for a closer, more intimate experience for the audience.

Looking down or directly at the performers is what was traditionally used during Greek theatre, as well as in football and baseball stadiums and even Woodstock, noted Mr. Schmidt, who is also "Technical Director, Lighting and Sound Design", who has won TANYS awards for set design, lighting and technical direction.

Furthermore, the sound, singing, and music is much clearer.

The romantic Valentine's Day atmosphere was also reflected in the set-up of the auditorium by Dawn Perneszi and Grace Summa. There were just two rows of chairs in front. In the rest of the room were four seat tables with red tablecloths and a rose in a vase. Schmidt's overall low-lighting was red with hearts and balloons around the hall.

The 16 performers were romantically or anti-romantically inspired and backed by the finest musicians, namely Leon Hilfstein, piano and leader; Brandon Sparkman on jazz and sexy saxophone; and Allan Charney on drums.

Teri Paris opened the show with "Love is beautiful I know", then the anti-love song "Down with Love" with Brandon Sparkman on sen-sual sax, and into "What is this thing called Love?"

Richard Quinn followed with "If ever I should leave you" and "On the street where you live" from the show "My Fair Lady"

Shawn Collin Bailey sang a passionate lament "Don't you believe in love?", then a bombastic defiant Tina Turner classic "What's Love Got to do With it?

Wild Woman comedian Mary Burkart, with her beautiful soprano song "A Quiet Thing", then returned with a straw hat and a 5 foot cutout of a milk cow. As she milked the cow, she suddenly screamed "I'm bored!", ripped off her jeans and milking gloves, revealing a sexy spangled dress and a chicken feather scarf, and transformed into a sexy cabaret singer, performing the song "City Lights". Mary Burkart is an active member of the Delaware Valley Opera Society.

David Rosenberg on guitar sang a folk variation of Dolly Parton's Will Always Love You" and John Denver's "Probably Love". On Sundays, David holds an "Open Mic" at DiFillipis Bakery in

For a complete change of pace, Rebecca (Becky) Salerno, a sophomore at Monticello High School, sang an alternative love song by SYML, called "Where's My Love", and the song "I'll Follow You into the Dark", deep erotic and emotive, accompanied by Hannah Veety and Keith Prince on guitar. Then Becky did an upbeat "I Don't Know

18 year old Tania Navarro bounced around on stage twirling a baton singing "supercalifragilisticexpialidocious" from Mary Poppins. Amber Schmidt sang a rousing "Title", an anthem for woman's Singing the most beautiful love duet of the evening, young Brianna Worden and Brandon Sparkman performed a truly heartfelt "I'm wor-thy of you" and ended walking off arm in arm to warm applause.

Heather Strauss broke the spell with "Please Don't Touch Me", a tauntingly teasing, hilarious ditty.

Lynn Porter touched the heartstrings with John Lennon and Paul McCartney's "In My Life".

Teri Schwartz and Josh Rosengrant sang in sweet harmony in "I need you now'

Dark-haired, provocative Felice Schwed sang Marlena Dietrich's haunting "Falling in Love Again" complete with German Accent.

Anna Veety, accompanying herself on guitary, sang the most provocative valentine song of the show: a classical, introspective and mesmerizing "Grow As We Go". As an encore she sang with Lynn Porter on harmony "They Won't Let Go" and a Kate Wolf tribute, a personal love ballot of remembering.

T.K. Nelson sang a pure love song, then "Call Me When You're Sober" - a torch song.

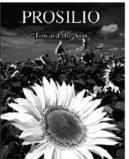

Keith Prince promptly lightened the mood when he sang Adam Sandler's Ode to Love to Drew Barrymore from the "Wedding Singer" called "I want to grow old with you".

Amber Schmidt had the audience clapping and toe-tapping with her Yiddish melody "Momma's Broken Heart". Then she did a duet with Heather Strauss about female college roommates "What is this Feeling?

Heather Strauss sang a tear-jerker tribute to growing children in 'Dear Daughter".

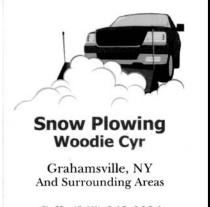

The show started at 8PM and ended at 10:30PM. At the beginning, Peter Nastasi said it might be appropriate to have a moment of silence for the beloved Jackie Horner (beloved Sullivan County legend, chorographer, professional dancer, and the inspiration for the film "Dirty Dancing") - but then added that Jackie Horner would not want a moment of silence. She would want music and entertainment. The SCDW prays that this evening did Jackie Horner proud.

FHS Hosts Program on Impact of Social Media

Social Media has become an integral part of the lives of so many people world-wide. It is an everyday part of children's lives, who are connecting with others on cell phones throughout the day at what seems to be the speed of light. What is at the root of the explosion of instant communication and what are the young people sharing through this medium? How is it affecting their brains? If you have concerns about the answers to these questions, come to Fallsburg High School on March 2, 2020 from 5:30 PM to 7:00 PM. Internationally known speaker Michael Nerney will address these issues in the FHS Auditorium at 115 Brickman Road, Fallsburg, NY. He has spent over forty years researching the adolescent brain and speaking to parents and young people about the effects of different stimuli, such as drugs, the allure of thrill-seeking technology and other high-risk behaviors. When Mr. Nerney spoke at FHS in 2016 on the subject of opiates and adolescence, he got the immediate attention of the parents and children with his knowledge and wisdom.

Catskill Stewards Greeted More Than 50,000

Catskill Park Visitors in 2019 Season ARKVILLE, NY February 20, 2020 - Created in 2018 by the Catskill Center (in collaboration with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation) to assist in managing high-use at the Peekamoose Blue Hole, the Catskill Stewards Program's 2019 season expanded to station Stewards at three popular Catskill destinations - the Peekamoose Blue Hole, Kaaterskill Falls and the Platte Clove Preserve.

Trained by Catskill Center, on-site Catskill Stewards answer questions from the public about the Park, its natural resources and communities. The Stewards help re-direct visitors from these very popular areas into the rest of the Park and offer advice on everything from where to go swimming to where to find lunch.

The growth of the Catskill Stewards Program in 2019 created a tremendous increase in the number of Catskill Park visitors the Stewards were able to interact with. At the three locations, the Catskill Center employed four full-time stewards, one part-time steward, and a program coordinator. The expanded program allowed Stewards to reach more than 50,000 visitors to the Catskill Park.

Increasingly, outdoor recreation on Catskill Park public lands is an important economic driver for the region. In the Economic Valuation Study for Public Lands in the Central Catskills (Brian Zweig, December 2019), researchers found that annually more than 1.7 million people visit public lands in the Catskills, spend more than $75 million and generate more than 840 jobs for the region. In addition, visitorship overall to the Catskills has been increasing, reaching more than 12 million according to New York State tourism data. The Catskill Stewards Program was designed to ensure the natural resources of the Catskill Park are protected, while engaging with and educating visitors to the Park about ways to responsibly enjoy the region and ensure that the natural beauty they came to see exists for future generations.

When we created the Catskill Stewards Program, the goal was to engage with and educate an ever-increasing number of Park visitors in a friendly, non-confrontational way," says Jeff Senterman, Executive Director of the Catskill Center. "The Catskill Park isn't a traditional park and we see our Catskill Stewards as a key piece of Park infrastructure to educate visitors about Leave No Trace principles, the responsible use of our outdoor resources and about the Park and its com-munities in general."

For the 2020 season, the Catskill Center is planning for the future, by taking into consideration the expected increase in visitors and the unique challenges and opportunities of the Catskill Park. This is why, the 2020 Catskill Steward season will focus on additional public educational programs, alongside additional staff at a new location. The Catskill Stewards Program will now host a weekend steward at the Mountain Top Historical Society in Haines Falls, as well as the previous locations at the Blue Hole, Kaaterskill Falls, and Platte Clove Preserve.

"We're thrilled to be expanding our Catskill Stewards Program with a new partnership with the Mountain Top Historical Society," says Senterman. "At the Mountain Top Historical Society our Steward will be able to assist their volunteers, while educating hundreds of visitors a day who utilize the Kaaterskill Rail Trail to visit Kaaterskill Falls. This will be a win, win, win situation for the Historical Society, the Catskill Center and our Catskill Park!

In 2018, the deliberate and coordinated efforts between the NYSDEC staff, NYSDEC Forest Rangers, volunteers, outside organizations, towns and the Catskill Stewards, kept the three locations within the Catskill Park cleaner, greener, and more welcoming than ever before. In 2019: Visitor engagement reach of over 53,187 people; Over 230 bags of litter col-lected (~ 4,600 lbs.); Fire rings deconstructed - 25 - sites rehabilitated; Rock dams deconstructed - 11; Rock stacks removed - 302; Total days at each location - 158; Dogs greeted - 1,326; and Visitor parking citations avoided - 596 (minimum)

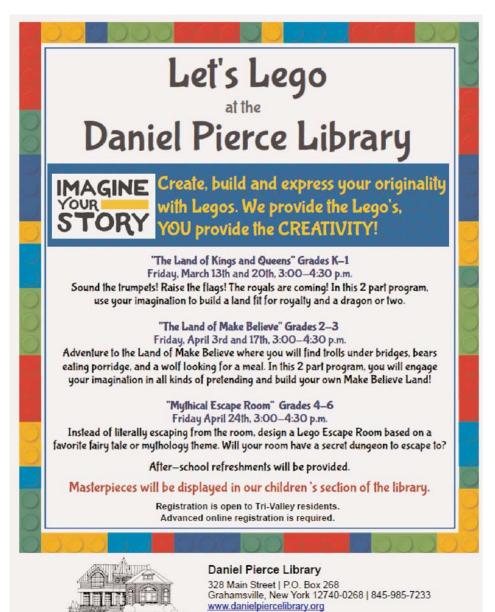

While each stewarding location has its own specific needs, similar natural resources are common. Water bodies, riparian areas, trail systems, flora, and fauna are consistently in danger of being trampled or harmfully impacted by a growing visitor population. The Catskill Stewards have become such a vital link to the visitation experience. Without their on-site presence, litter increases, rock dams and stacks are built in the streams, and user-created trails begin to wander through pristine forest.

In addition to protecting the natural resources of each location and the greater Catskill Park, the Catskill Stewards are trained to assist NYSDEC Forest Rangers when accidents and incidents occur. The Stewards receive Wilderness First Aid and CPR training and certification, travel to the Adirondacks to train with the Adirondack Summit Stewards, and receive training by the NYSDEC and the Catskill Center

"We're proud of our Catskill Stewards and all that they have accomplished in the last two seasons," says Andy Mossey, Catskill Center Advocacy & Stewardship Coordinator, "I am looking forward to managing our expanded program in 2020 and reaching even more visitors to the Catskill Park. Our engagement with the public makes a real difference in terms of natural resource protection, public safety and moving visitors deeper into the Park from just the very busy areas

The Catskills Stewardship Program is made possible by the generous support of the Rondout Neversink Stream Program, New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, REI Co-op, Bruderhof, Hunter Foundation, Catskill Mountain Club, Catskill 2500 Club and the generous supporters of the Catskill Conter 3500 Club and the generous supporters of the Catskill Center.

THE POISON LOVE BAND. Where were THEY on Valentine's Day? I'd had a long day and hadn't planned to go out Saturday night, but I also didn't have a lot in the way of food in the house, so off to the Pickled Owl I went.

This was a band I had never experienced, and I have to say I was quite impressed. Joanne Binckerhoff singer on guitar with long silver or white blonde hair, her husband Dan on fiddle then ukulele with a voice reminiscent of Neil Young, and Tom Deerhart, who's percussion instrument was the wooden box on which he sat (not the first time I've seen this and I always find it awe inspiring). It was not only visually interesting, but I found their music compelling. Once I real-ized that most of what I'd already heard had been originals, I started paying closer attention to the lyrics. The songs ranged from grippingly poignant like that of a little boy whose mother suffered from substance abuse to the wittily amusing about rebuffing a 'wannabe' suitor from Texas.

If you get the chance to hear this Pennsylvania based band, do so. At first it sounds 'folksy' but if you listen closely, you hear an eclectic mix of country and American with a bit of added cajun spice. I hope the next time I see them, it will be in an outdoor setting,...in the summer because although subdued (because The Pickled Owl is like that), I get the feeling they can really take their music to a foot stomping level.

I mentioned that I had had a long day. I was privileged to be on hand when not just one but TWO sets of friends received the prestigious New York State Senate 2019 Empire Award from Senator Jen Metzger. How often does THAT happen in a lifetime? This award is given to a business in recognition of their contribution to the community and local economy. When a business is under consideration for this award, they are thoroughly vetted before a determination is made so this is not just what I like to call a 'photo op' award, oh no, these are serious.

Chef Jaime, Cris, Senator Metzner and Mark at Neversink General Store

Senator Metzner and Denise at the Hurleyville General Store

Major congrats to Mark and Cris at our own NEVERSINK GENERAL STORE and to Denise at THE HUR-LEYVILLE GENERAL STORE.

In addition, I liked the Senator. I've met quite a few politicians in my life and my impressions have pretty much all been the same: Plastic and hollow...and that goes for the few I've met here where I live in Sullivan County. Jen Metzger is real, and she connects. She had just come from a hike on one of the 'Rails to Trails', We chatted, a chat that she initiated and I had not flashed my press pass. And what really struck me was that the only other politician that I have ever connected with like that was the late Ed Koch when I lived in NYC. It was MY pleasure to meet HER I'm off to Vermont for a few days, so if I find any good music up there, I'll let you know.

This is what's coming up this week in this area:

Open Mic at BUM AND KELS LAKESIDE in Loch Sheldrake on Wednesday night, Feb 26, hosted by THE JOHNNY JULES BAND; 7pm

Friday night, Feb 27: OXFORD STATION at CABERET FRANK'S in Parksville; 8pm

Saturday night, Feb 28 SMOKIN' BUDDY STEVE WELLS at CABERNET FRANK'S in Parksville; 8pm THE PICKLED OWL has not listed who's appearing but you can be sure it will be quality. 6pm Until next time.....

Philly Voice calls it "stark, intricate and wondrous - Ruin's paper-cut art combines the enthralling fantasy of a storybook with the prismatic, fragmented beauty of a stained-glass window.

3 Steps

to Start Traveling

Throughout my travels, Í've encountered people from all walks of life. People who are simply backpacking around the world. People who are retired and are finally getting the chance to travel. People who, like myself, work and live abroad, whether it be online or at physical jobs.

But, how did these people begin? How does one just start traveling if they have never been out of their home country before? What are the items on a list that require a big 'check" before heading off?

It's easier than you might think! Here are the first three steps to help you get going:1. Stop Waiting for Others to Travel with You

This may be a little scary to imagine yourself traveling alone, but in my honest opinion, I think everyone should get this opportunity in their lives at least once. You push yourself to accomplish the unimaginable. You don't need to depend on anyone. You are free! On this note, planning to travel with other people can put a halt to your plans. I've had friends and family tell me they'd travel with me umpteen times. Guess how many have? 0. But guess who has traveled? Me. People unfortunately make excuses, get busy, and more often than not, won't come through. So, you want to go on that trip, but your best friend keeps giving you the runaround and has been for months? Be independent, purchase that ticket, and go yourself!

Set aside some cash

Well, this is obvious, but like anything, traveling costs money. But, don't assume you need to drop $20,000 for a two-week trip! Make a budget. Do your research on the places you want to go (travel blogs in particular are great for this!). Narrow it all down while keeping in mind things like overall costs in a country, air/land travel, accommodation, visas, and so on.

3. Shake those fears off

Leaving home and exploring a new culture, country, or even city can be nerve-wracking. However, traveling can be one of the most eye-opening and educational experiences one can experience. Plus, we live in a time of the internet! If you ever have an issue, question, or concern, simply tap the screen of your fancy rectangle! If you've booked that ticket or are about to, take some deep breaths. Meditate. Remind yourself that you can do this! Nearly anyone with the right support and mindset can do this.

Have you booked your ticket yet?

New Law Banning Single-Use Plastic Bags Takes Effect March 1, 2020

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo announced a statewide education and outreach campaign to ensure that New Yorkers are aware of the March 1 ban on single-use plastic bags.

The BYOBagNY campaign, spearheaded by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, includes TV and radio advertisements, social media, Google Ads, and events hosted by Feeding New York State food banks across the state.

"Right this minute, plastic bags are hanging in trees, blowing down the streets, filling up our landfills and polluting our lakes, rivers and streams-all hurting our environment," Governor Cuomo said. "Twelve million barrels of oil are used to make the plastic bags we use every year and by 2050 there will be more plastic by weight in the oceans than fish. We took bold action to protect our environment and ban these environmental blights and with this campaign we're going to make sure New Yorkers are ready and have all the facts."

As part of this effort, DEC is distributing more than 270,000 reusable bags with a focus on low- and moderateincome communities. DEC's BYOBagNY campaign includes TV and radio placements, ads on YouTubetargeting New Yorkers, boosted social media placements, a Google ad campaign, video promotions at Thruway rest stops and more that will continue over the next few months. In addition, DEC is bolstering its ongoing outreach to

In addition, DEC is bolstering its ongoing outreach to stakeholders and industry associations, including the Food Industry Alliance, the Retail Council, New York State Association of Counties and convenience stores, and partnering with New York State agencies to distribute reusable bags and elevate the BYOBagNYmessage. DEC is also providing its nine regional offices with BYOBagNY educational materials for use as outreach at public events and is working with New York State Department of Taxation and Finance to coordinate cross-agency efforts related to clear communication of the law entities required to collect state sales tax. DEC is currently distributing hundreds of thousands of reusable bags across the state to low- and moderate-income New Yorkers with the help of partner state agencies and Feeding New York State, the statewide food bank organization.

SUPERVISOR'S CORNER

By Chris Mathews, Town of Neversink Supervisor

A lot has happened since my last column. The November elections brought some changes to our little town. My friend and colleague, Mike Brooks has left the Town Board and has been elected to be our District 3 County Legislator. Good luck Mike – I'm sure you will do great things and represent us honorably. Taking his place on the Board is newly elected Councilwoman, Nicole Gorr. The Honorable Brent Gotsch is our new Town Justice. Welcome Brent and Nicole! Brent replaced Barb Garigliano who faithfully served the town as Justice for an amazing 32 years! Thank you Barb for all those years of dedication! I would also like to thank all who supported me for another term. I am humbled and grateful.

In December the Town had its annual Tree Lighting ceremony. It was awesome and I was very proud to be a part of it. The Town Board would like to thank all who contributed. Thanks to the Grahamsville Fire Department, Parks and Rec Advisory Board, the Scouts, Tri-Valley Band, Town Hall Staff, and Santa & Mrs. Claus. Special thanks to Cher Wohl and her husband Walt for all their time and efforts!

The Town Board would like to welcome a new member to the team. Jim Federoff has just been hired as our PT Assistant Building Inspector. Please welcome him and try not to abuse him too much. We would like him to stick around.

Sadly, we have lost several people that served the Town of Neversink and its citizens with distinction. Herb Dewitt served as our representative on the Catskill Watershed Corporation's Sporting Advisory Committee for many years. He will be missed by the Town of Neversink and his friends at the CWC. The Town Board recently honored Herb with a moment of silence at our meeting. Carl Denman served as a Town Justice and Zoning Board Chairman. The Town Board honored Carl with a Resolution read into our minutes. Lastly, Joe Inghrim was a great help to the town as well as the Time and the Valleys Museum where he volunteered and served on their Board of Trustees. I will personally miss each of them. I will be forever grateful for the support, advice, and friendship they gave me over the years.

Congratulations to the new Eagle Scouts in Town. Brian Kelly, Carson Terwilliger, Chris Morgan, Adam Furman, and my buddy Brant Gorton! We are very proud of all of you and acknowledge the hard work it takes to get there. Boy Scout Nick Jucha will be starting a project for the Town; he will be building handicap benches for our Town parks. Thank you Nick!

For those who didn't know, Neversink Renaissance is now going by the name Neversink Blooms. No matter the name, the Town remains grateful for all the work they do for our community.

As many of you know by now, Jamie Brooks has resigned as our Parks & Rec Leader. We would like to take this opportunity to thank her for her many years of service. We would like to assure you that the Parks & Rec budget remains intact and that the Town will continue to provide a quality and unique program for our youth, seniors, and townspeople. We are currently working on filling the position and also looking for an additional Advisory Board member.

WJFF Movies & Music Presents Stop Making Sense

WJFF Movies & Music Presents Stop Making Sense. It's all there - the quirky motions, poetically surreal lyrics, the driving bass lines and of course a tremendously big white suit. Drawing from the rise of performance art, along with the work of 80's art stars like painter Robert Longo and dancer Karole Armitage and the punk rock sensibilities of the legendary club CBGBs, Talking Heads' performance remains nodern, relevant and irresistibly danceable.

WJFF General Manager says "With so much praise being given to David Byrne's "American Utopia" performances right now, it just felt right to go back to the beginning to show Stop Making Sense' to kick off the return for this popular series Wikipedia tells us "The film has been hailed by Leonard Maltin as "one of the greatest rock movies ever made", and "the finest concert film" according to Robert Christgau, while Pauline Kael of The New Yorker described it as "close to perfection". Good enough for us.

progresses in stages and, if untreated, can lead to complete loss of kidney function. At CKD stage 5, when both kidneys fail completely, the only options for survival are dialysis or a kidney transplant. Nick is at stage 5.

More about our warrior Nick...

Nick was diagnosed with Tuberous Sclerosis Complex (TSC) at birth. TSC is a neurological disorder that produces seizures, tumors, and lesions that effect the organs of the body and can cause Autism. Nick battled with seizures his whole life from infantile spasms to adult grand-mal seizures. Finally the past year and half Nick's seizures have been controlled but his kidney function was deteriorating. May 2019 we heard the worst news that Nick's function was under 10% on both kidneys! Since then Nick has had 2 surgeries to put ports in his neck and stomach so dialysis can be preformed. Nick has transitioned to home dialysis and has been a tough adjustment. Not what the sweetest, kindest, 29 year old should be going through.

Nick has such a big heart and is loved by so many in our community. We all want Nick to have the best quality of life and going through dialysis does not provide that quality. We hope and pray a kidney comes to us and that Nick will be able to live a happy and healthy life doing what he loves and that is to bicycle all throughout our town making people smile. Nick is a big part of the community, he takes pride with his volunteer work with the EMS and is the Honorary member of the Monticello Fire Department. Lets all band together for Nick and help him find a kidney so he can live life to the fullest!

Knarf's Classic Movie & Trivia ON TCM STARTING AT 11:30 AM WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 2020 WE HONOR, ACTRESS BETTE DAVIS

"The Letter"

(Drama, 1940) A woman claims to have killed in self-defense, until a blackmailer turns up with incriminat-ing evidence. Dir: William Wyler. Cast: Bette Davis, Herbert Marshall, James Stephenson, Frieda Inescort, Gale Sondergaard. Lushly photographed, Somerset Maugham drama set in Malaya, tells of murderess (Davis) who tries to cover up her deed by pleading self-defense. Davis is quite appealing in her unsympathetic role. Previously filmed in 1929 (also with Herbert Marshall in cast); remade as THE UNFAITHFUL, then again for TV in 1982 with Lee Remick.

Quiz

1. Who played Prescott? 2. Who played Chung Hi?

BETTE DAVIS - A strong-willed, independent woman with heavy-cast eyes, clipped New England diction, and distinctive mannerisms, Bette Davis left an indelible - and often parodied - mark on cinema history as being one of Hollywood's most important and decorated actresses.

Over the course of her storied career, Davis made some 100 films, for which she received 10 Academy Award nominations, and twice won the Best Actress trophy.

But her sometimes over-the-top affectations which no doubt made her a gay subculture icon hindered her career despite the enormity of her talents. Not a glamorous star, Davis went through a string of forgettable pictures before tackling the rather unsympathetic Mildred in "Of Human Bondage" (1934), which turned her into a star and earned the actress her first Oscar nomination. She won the Academy Award the following year for "Dangerous" (1935) and later earned her second statue for one of her most famous performances in "Jezebel" (1938). By this time, Davis was a big star and went on to a series of box office hits like "Dark Victory" (1939) and "Now, Voyager" (1942).

But after the personal tragedy of losing her husband, Arthur Farnsworth, Davis went into serious professional decline, only to resurrect herself with a delectably over-the-top performance in "All About Eve" (1950). Watch for more on Bette Davis.
