Hundreds Gather to Celebrate Tri-Valley Little League 50th Anniversary and the Opening of the 2022

Tom Mitchell holds the bat that was presented by Larry Whipple (far right)

The overcast skies and chill in the air didn't lower the spirits of all the volunteers, teams, parents, family and friends of the Tri-Valley Little League. A two-day celebration was held this past weekend starting on Friday with music and a night at the movies.

Saturday morning's activities began with a parade of anxious players around the park on Route 42 in Grahamsville. The parade led to the highlight of the celebration. Coaches and all volunteers were thanked for all they do to make the day possible. Those who were specially recognized were Tom Mitchell and his wife. Tom was presented with a plaque and a unique baseball bat –symbols of all the years of work and dedication for the benefit of our young people in the community. Larry Whipple was also recognized for the great job he has done along with his amazing group of volunteers. (Contd. Pg. 4)

The Return of the Barn Swallows

We were having a birthday celebration on Sunday for our daughter-in-law, Brianna and we had two unexpected guests! Being so beautiful on Sunday, we sat in the kitchen with the door open. The guests, a pair of barn swallows flew in and around the kitchen and then back out again.

Barn swallows are, called "neotropical migrants," meaning they spend six or more months in southern locations before returning north, to the Catskills in spring to mate and rear their young.

While spending their time in the Catskills this spring and summer, the barn swallows will travel up to a half-mile to gather mud from the edges of ponds, puddles, and ditches to construct their nests. The collection sites will be marked with numerous small holes made by the birds as they poked their beaks into the mud several times to get a good load. You may also see swallows flying with feathers or grass that they will use in the final stages of nest building.

As its name implies, the Barn Swallow typically nests inside accessible buildings such as barns and stables, or on the front porch.

Barn swallow's have had a close association with humans that goes back to Europe for over 2,000 years. It has been theorized that one reason barn swallows choose to nest on door stoops, light fixtures, and porch fronts is because the close proximity to humans keeps crows and other predators away. Of course, when we have a barn swallow nest on the front porch, we have to deal with the droppings and other debris they deposit. There are remedies: spread newspaper, an old sheet, or even install a board under the nest. It is worth it to watch these wonderful birds that feed on flying insects. In fact, did you know Swallows are federally protected? Once an adult swallow occupies a half-built nest, or a fully built nest, even without eggs, then the law protects it.

Once the nest has been completed, the female will lay two to seven, reddish-spotted white eggs that are about 0.6 x 0.8 in size, and weigh 0.07 oz, of which 5 percent is shell. The incubation period is normally 14-19 days; with another 18-23 days before the chicks develop wing feathers the young stay with, and are fed by the parents for about a week after leaving the nest. There are normally two broods, with the original nest being reused for the second brood and being repaired and reused in subsequent years. Occasionally, birds from the first brood will assist in feeding the second brood.

While there has been a decline of the Barn Swallows in some countries where they use DDT, there has been an increase in the population in North America due to greater availability of nesting sites and subsequent range expansion,

Because of their long journeys, barn swallows have been well observed. A swallow tattoo is popular amongst nautical men as a symbol of a safe return. The tradition was that a mariner would receive a tattoo of this fellow wanderer after sailing 5,000 nautical miles.

As we will observe during the spring and summer, swallows will dart and sail overhead, with airborne grace, a wonder to behold.

No bird in North America is better known as a welcome companion and a useful friend to the farmer, as it comes each spring to fly in and out of the wide-open barn door, delighting them with its cheerful twittering. It will fly about the barnyard in pursuit of the troublesome insects that annoy both man and beast.

As long as there are insects, the Barn Swallow will remain in its summer home. This is main reason for their seasonal migration - the lack of insects to eat during winter in the north. Avoiding cold temperatures is actually a less important reason for leaving. Swallows will migrate during the day, catching flying insects along the way. They will fly from dawn to dusk, sometimes coming within inches of the ground to catch flying insects. Their airborne grace is a wonder to behold.

Hundreds Gather to Celebrate Tri-Valley Little League 50th Anniversary and the Opening of the 2022 Season

The afternoon was filled with fun for everyone - Bouncy Houses, Silent Auction, Bake Sale, Live Music and food at the concessions. A big attraction was the dunking booth. The temp was in the 40's and the sun wasn't shining, but that didn't stop the brave volunteers from getting dunked -for the benefit of 'the kids'.

Then the moment came for the players --the 2022 Season of Tri-Valley Little League began --the first ball was thrown.

The season has just begun, so make sure you take some time out and have some fun. Go the park, enjoy a hot dog or two and help support our 50 year old Tri-Valley Little League.

Don't Know Tough Mysterious Book Report No. 489

by John Dwaine Mc Kenna

Don't Know Tough, (Soho Crime, $24.95, 336 pages, ISBN 978-1-64129-345-7), by Eli Cranor, is the apex of Southern Noir. Placed in Denton, Arkansas, it's hard-boiled, gut-wrenching, poignant, gritty, emotional, brutal, savage, raw, and stunningly authentic. It's a novel you'll never forget, and it's hard to believe that it's Mr. Cranor's debut. He speaks with authority and his characters are heartbreakingly real . . . they're the type of individuals we've all known, heard about, or might even be related to.

Like a lot of small towns, Denton lives and dies on the prospects of its football team, The Pirates. This year the team is headed to the playoffs –maybe even the state championship –but it all rests on the shoulders of their best player and star running back, Billy Lowe . . . a troubled young man who lives in a squalid, run down and filthy two bedroom trailer next to a chicken processing plant with his little brother, unstable mother and her abusive boyfriend named Travis, who terrorizes, tortures and beats all three of them. Billy takes his hostility out on the football field. But then, just before the first playoff game, after being intentionally burned by Travis with a cigarette, Billy crosses a line and hurts another team member during practice. It's a brutal attack, inflicted savagely upon an affluent boy whose father is friends with the school principal, who demands that Billy be benched for the next game as punishment for his actions. If he is, the Pirates don't stand a chance. That creates a problem and a morale dilemma for their new head football coach from California. He's desperate to go back to the west coast with a state championship in order to satisfy his wife and redeem himself in the eyes of his father-in-law, who's a respected head coach. That's when the boyfriend, Travis's decomposing body is found just a few days after he was punched in the face and knocked out by young Billy. Law enforcement is called in . . . and their main suspect is Billy Lowe.

Told in the first person point-of-view by Billy in places, and by various others in the third, this novel will leave you thinking, long after the last page is finished, when you'll be looking forward to its sequel!!

DVAA welcomes Arm-of-the-Sea back to the Tusten Theatre with their latest production, "Dirt: The Secret Life of Soil"

The Delaware Valley Arts Alliance (DVAA) is thrilled to welcome audiences of all ages to join us at the Tusten Theatre on Saturday May 14th for the latest Arm-of-the-Sea production, "DIRT: THE SECRET LIFE OF SOIL" which asks the question, where does food "come from" and from what is it made?

A lively primer for urban bumpkins and upcountry gardeners alike, DIRT fuses cutting-edge science and age-old puppetry, taking audiences on an extravagant journey of discovery into the Great Underneath-revealing the epic alchemy of plants, the fungi's dance of mutual delight, and the microbes' herculean labors.

With a run time of 55 minutes, DIRT features live music and a myriad of puppet figures ranging from 12" to 12' tall. It reminds earthly residents of all ages how profoundly essential the ground beneath their feet is.

ABOUT ARM-OF-THE-SEA

Arm-of-the-Sea is an arts ensemble that fuses visual storytelling with live music in contemporary works of mask and puppet theater. Founded in 1982 by Marlena Marallo and Patrick Wadden, the company's hybrid style channels the evocative power of the arts as a force for joy, insight, and community uplift. Their low-tech devices of theatrical enchantment illuminate relations between humans and the life-support networks of this blue-ocean planet. Under the direction of Marallo & Wadden, the creative team includes musicians Eli Winograd, Dean Jones, and Juan Basilio Sanchez, and performers Kira deCoudres, Trey Daniels, Anna Hafner, Soyal Smalls. and Lauren Smith.

Arm-of-the-Sea tours its original productions to cultural centers, festivals, and schools throughout the Northeast. They host THE ESOPUS CREEK PUPPET SUITE each August in Saugerties, NY, adjacent to the site of a 19th-century paper mill which the organization is transforming into The Tidewater Center for Arts, Science. and Local History.

Livingston Manor Fire Department, DA Galligan, Sheriff's Office and More Team to Warn Teens Against Drunk Driving

The Livingston Manor Fire Department, with assistance from the Livingston Manor Volunteer Ambulance Corps, Roscoe-Rockland Fire Department, Mobile Medic, Sullivan County Emergency Operations Center, Sullivan County Sheriff's Deputies and District Attorney Meagan K. Galligan teamed up to warn teens in the Livingston Manor School District against drunk driving. The program, dubbed "Operation Prom Night" was designed to impart upon high school students the risks associated with the decision to operate a motor vehicle after having consumed alcohol or drugs.

On Tuesday morning, following a discussion with DA Galligan, the teens moved outside, on school grounds where, under the coordination of the Livingston Manor Fire Department, they witnessed a simulated fatal drunk driving crash. As Galligan narrated, Sheriff's Deputies put one student through simulated field sobriety tests and ultimately simulated his arrest on the scene. Multiple agencies responded to the simulation, extracting teen actors from the wreckage of two crashed vehicles, using the Jaws of Life and other emergency equipment.

Throughout the demonstration, students were asked to consider the toll that drunk driving crashes have upon innocent victims and those who drink and drive. Galligan thanked the Livingston Manor High School for hosting the program and all of the volunteers who came together to make it a success. She said, "The numbers are clear: Every day, 300,000 people drive drunk in our country, killing one person every 50 minutes as a result. As I heard so many of my partners say throughout the morning on Tuesday, one person's decision to stay put or call a sober ride could be the difference between life and death for the driver, a passenger or an innocent parent, friend or child. I am grateful that our local schools are committed to educating our kids on the high price tag that can be attached to a single bad decision."

May is NF (Neurofibromatosis) Awareness Month

May is NF (Neurofibromatosis) Awareness Month, Announces Children's Tumor Foundation

Opportunities to Make NF Visible, get involved, and drive research for a genetic disorder that affects 2.5 million people worldwide and has no cure

NEW YORK, May 1, 2022 /PRNewswire-PRWeb/ -- The Children's Tumor Foundation is pleased to announce that May is NF Awareness Month. NF, short for neurofibromatosis, is a group of genetic disorders that causes tumors to grow on nerves throughout the body. NF affects 2.5 million people around the world, but many have not heard of this rare genetic disorder that can lead to blindness, deafness, bone abnormalities, disfigurement, learning disabilities, disabling pain, and cancer.

NF affects all populations equally, but it manifests differently in each patient; patients with visible signs of NF struggle to be seen as more than just their NF, while patients whose NF is internal, or 'invisible,' struggle to make others understand. NF Awareness Month is an opportunity to amplify the voice of all NF patients through the Children's Tumor Foundation 'Make NF Visible' initiative.

The Make NF Visible campaign focuses on the external things the NF community is doing to raise the profile of a disease that affects 1 in 3,000 births, while also bringing to light both the outward and internal struggles NF patients experience in their day-to-day lives. Through storytelling, photography, and intimate first-person videos, Make NF Visible covers the scope and scale of how NF's visibility impacts and influences public awareness, diagnosis, clinical care, and research investments in search of a cure.

"Make NF Visible is a campaign for everyone. Chances are you know someone with NF and may not know it, because they've kept their diagnosis hidden," said Simon Vukelj, Chief Marketing Officer of the Children's Tumor Foundation. "This May and all year round, we're honored to bring these real-life NF stories to the forefront, both so that NF patients receive the care and treatments they deserve, while also inspiring those who are fighting for something or someone important in their lives."

A captivating part of the campaign is the 'Make NF Visible' video gallery, a collection of first-person stories from patients living with neurofibromatosis. Honest and raw, these videos capture what it's like to live with the rare disorder, the nuance of the visible and invisible aspects of NF, and how expanding awareness is changing perceptions and changing lives.

On May 17, 2022, the annual Make NF Visible: A World NF Day Live Event will broadcast live, for the first time, from LA's The Three Clubs on Vine. Hosted by actor/director Jonathan Sadowski with performances by actor/singer/activist Rumer Willis and 2019 'The Voice' runner up Jim Ranger, plus appearances by actors Ben Shenkman, Mark Feuerstein, Michael B. Silver, Chris Carmack and Paul Raci, professional golfer Mark Calcavecchia, professional wrestler Roman Reigns and inspiring stories from NF patients, all coming together for an evening to raise money, awareness, and make NF visible.

One of the most popular initiatives during NF Awareness Month, Shine a Light on NF, makes NF visible through the lighting in blue and green, the official colors of NF, of hundreds of buildings, bridges, monuments, water falls, and architectural icons across the globe. In 2021, the Shine a Light campaign grew to over 300 locations in 11 countries lighting up for the NF cause, including Niagara Falls, La Sagrada Familia in Barcelona, and London's National Theatre. This year, more than 350 landmarks in 12 countries have already agreed to Shine a Light on NF and Make NF Visible.

In addition to light-ups, the Children's Tumor Foundation leads the community in making NF visible through the push-to Wear Blue & Green on May 17 and Wear Green & Blue on May 22 for NF2. These visual cues, utilizing the official colors of the cause and the campaign, are another way that makes the movement accessible, declaring NF deserves our attention and NF patients deserve a cure.

Additional year-round initiatives that peak during NF Awareness Month are #EndNF and I Know a Fighter, making NF visible through the use of a shared social rally cry and storytelling hook that reflects the bravery NF patients exhibit in their daily lives. Community events also take place across the country and around the world, on- and off-line.

Remember All the Fun We Have at the Grahamsville UMC Thrift Sales? We Can't Allow that to Change!

It is so much fun going to the Thrift Sale! The next Thrift Sale at Grahamsville UMC Church will be held on May 21st. Volunteers are still needed to make sure they can continue to hold all the Thrift Sales posted on their calendar!

Young and old, we all have a lot of fun looking for that special item and finding a lot more! Not only is it fun finding awesome bargains, but it is also a lot of fun seeing familiar faces and meeting new friends who are having just as much fun.

All those years, all the bargains, fun and food are made possible by volunteers. Volunteers are special people who give some time and effort back to the community. In the past volunteers found their little niche - whether it was sorting the new items that were brought in by donors, washing items so they were pristine when you bought them, placing the items in an orderly fashion on the racks, tables and shelves, or being there on a sale day helping those making purchases. A big THANK YOU to all the volunteers who made the Thrift Sale happen this past Saturday. It was great to see a few new faces!

We will never forget the volunteers who we got to know over the years who are longer with us, or are now unable to perform as they did in years past. We miss them. It was great to see some new faces this past Saturday. A big THANK YOU to all the volunteers who made this another fun day for family, neighbors and friends in our community. If you love coming to the Thrift Sales, why not join them and become one of the volunteers?

You don't have to be a member of the Grahamsville UMC Church to be a volunteer. Think about it. If everyone who came to the Thrift Sale in the past were to volunteer just a little of their time and a little effort, we could all look forward to future Thrift Sales!

Please fill out the form below and bring it with you to the church on Sunday and leave it with the pastor or mail it to: Grahamsville UMC Church, P O Box 86, Grahamsville, NY 12740 Attention: Thrift Sale Volunteers; or if you come to the next Thrift Sale on May 21st, bring the form with you and give it to one of the volunteers.

Public Hearing on Central Hudson's Billing Practices Draws Over 100 Attendees

Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan, NYS Senator Michelle Hinchey and Assemblymember Kevin Cahill collected over 45 public comments at the hearing into Central Hudson's customer information system implementation and resulting billing errors

KINGSTON, N.Y. - Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan, NYS Senator Michelle Hinchey and Assemblymember Kevin Cahill held a public hearing on Tuesday, May 3rd, at Kingston High School which drew over a hundred attendees and more than 45 public comments. Testimony provided at the public hearing will be submitted to the Department of Public Service (DPS) investigation into Central Hudson's customer information system implementation and resulting billing errors.

"Central Hudson, through their failures to communicate and to execute, has broken a fundamental trust, and it is on them to restore that trust. But the only way we can work towards that is with transparency and accountability and people sharing their stories," Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan said. "I really appreciate everyone's willingness to give up their time, to document what's happening with detail and humanity, by telling personal stories about the pressure and the stress that Central Hudson's billing practices are putting on so many people."

"Our public hearing confirmed what we know to be true: that our community members are bearing the unacceptable burden of Central Hudson's inaccurate billing practices and egregious price spikes," said Senator Michelle Hinchey. "I want to thank everyone who made their voice heard at our hearing and encourage all impacted individuals to share their experiences with DPS as part of their investigation into Central Hudson. My office will continue our work to hold Central Hudson accountable, fighting billing errors directly through our constituent services, and taking legislative action to make sure that these failures never happen again."

"Tonight's forum will add to our extensive work in representing outraged and abused utility customers in our communities. The breadth of issues our neighbors are experiencing with Fortis/Central Hudson is unacceptable. In addition to collaborating with the Public Utility Law Project and colleagues in the State Assembly to hold a regional forum and this community gathering, my office distributed a survey to every local resident, yielding over 600 additional individual complaints regarding billing, reliability, unresponsiveness and costs associated with the company. That information, in conjunction with the statements included in this gathering, will provide the Public Service Commission ample evidence for their investigation and ensure that the utility is held accountable. My office will continue to work with County Executive Ryan, Senator Hinchey, other area representatives and the Public Utility Law Project to allow consumer voices to be heard," said Assemblymember Kevin A. Cahill (D-Ulster, Dutchess).

"Even before Ulster's residents were blindsided by the 'bill surge,' Central Hudson was failing at its duty to provide customers with regular and accurate bills, which resulted in unjust and unreasonable rates being charged and consumer harm. Worse, rather than getting out ahead of its myriad issues, the company has shifted the burden to its customers to correct the glitches and mistakes of their inoperable billing system," said Laurie Wheelock, Deputy Executive Director of the Public Utility Law Project of New York. "Tonight's forum shined a light on how these unfair and unacceptable business practices harmed many thousands of the company's customers. PULP thanks County Executive Ryan, Senator Hinchey, and Assemblymember Cahill for the opportunity to testify at this important hearing and look forward to continued partnership on the matter with their offices."

Public Service Law §71 allows for the filing of complaints regarding gas and electric service, including quality, price, and the duration of a disruption in service. Under this Section, the Commission investigates complaints from the chief executive officer in which a person or corporation is authorized to manufacture, sell, transmit, or supply electricity or gas for heat, light, or power. Under this section of law, County Executive Ryan used his legal authority to call for an investigation. His March 3rd letter cited Ulster County residents' concerns ranging from not receiving bills for months, to extremely over-estimated bills, to large automatic withdrawals from customers' accounts without notice. Since September, at least 11,000 Central Hudson electricity customers have experienced billing problems.

At the State level, Senator Hinchey has called on the Public Service Commission to investigate both Central Hudson's estimated billing procedure and the utility's skyrocketing bill hikes and authored legislation (S7579A) to prohibit every utility company in New York from using an estimated billing system.

Central Hudson customers who have been impacted by the implementation of Central Hudson's new billing system, and who have not been able to resolve their issues with the utility, may submit public comment on the DPS investigation through the online form. It is anticipated that the DPS investigation will go on for several months.

For additional assistance with resolving individual matters, individuals can file a formal complaint with DPS online or by calling 800-342-3377.

Ulster County residents who do not have computer access or a valid email address and could not make it to the public hearing may continue to call 845-443-8888 for assistance with submitting public comment on the investigation.

Governor Hochul Announces $11 Million to Expand Proven Healthy Families NY Prevention Program to Every County

Funding Will Expand Free Home Visiting and Community Services to Strengthen and Support Children and Families Across New York State

Healthy Families New York Promotes and Enhances Prenatal Care, Maternal Health, Better Birth Outcomes, Parent-Child Bonding, Child Health and School Success

Governor Kathy Hochul announced today that $11 million in funding from the recently enacted State Budget is now available to expand and support the proven, evidence-based Healthy Families New York program—a preventive community outreach program that provides voluntary home visitation to expectant parents and families with infants.

"Healthy Families New York is a proven program that has helped strengthen families and enhance the well-being of children across New York," Governor Hochul said. "It is paramount that we continue to make smart investments in evidence-based programs that provide direct support to children and families when they need it most. This funding will expand the proven Healthy Families New York program to every county, giving more young families the support they need to build healthy lives and help their children thrive."

Run by the New York State Office of Children and Family Services, Healthy Families New York promotes optimal prenatal care, better birth outcomes and positive growth and development to improve parent-child bonding, maternal health, child health and school success. A request for proposals is out for $9 million to expand Healthy Families New York to every county in the state. An additional $2 million will sustain the technical assistance, training and data system necessary to support the new programs and maintain fidelity to the Healthy Families New York model.

A total of $9 million annually from 2022 to 2025 will be available to fund proposals to serve counties that do not yet have a Healthy Families New York program. The RFP expands not only the geographic coverage of Healthy Families New York, but also eligibility to families with children up to 24 months old at enrollment when referred by local departments of social services, up from the current maximum age of three months.

Healthy Families New York services include helping families access community resources and services, educating families on parenting and child development, connecting families with medical providers and assessing children for developmental delays. This component of Healthy Families New York aligns with the state's Family First Prevention Plan to strengthen families and reduce the chance of children entering foster care.

This latest investment in Healthy Families New York is part of Governor Hochul's continued commitment to supporting children and families, including a historic, $7 billion investment in child care in the enacted State Budget. The Budget increases the income eligibility threshold for child care subsidies to 300 percent of the federal poverty level ($83,250 for a family of four)—extending eligibility to more than half of young children in New York. It also includes $343 million to stabilize child care providers hit hard financially during the pandemic, $50 million to establish a child care capital program, and $15.6 million to ensure that all SUNY and CUNY campuses house child care centers.

New York State Office of Children and Family Services Commissioner Sheila J. Poole said, "The New York State Office of Children and Family Services' priority is to bolster and support families and help those in greatest need before there is any need for child welfare programs to step in or when a family may be receiving preventive services. Through this RFP, even more families can access these vital services, which are culturally and linguistically competent and support our youngest families."

NYSAC Executive Director Stephen J. Acquario said "From early intervention to preschool education, counties provide the services families need to support a healthy start for their children. We commend Governor Hochul and state leaders for recognizing and investing in the incredible potential that exists for the state to partner with county governments to bring these services, which are proven to dramatically improve outcomes for children and families, to every corner of our state." ## Governor Hochul Announces $11 Million to Expand Proven Healthy Families NY Prevention Program to Every County

(From Pg 32) Center for Human Services Research at SUNY Albany Director Margaret Gullick said, "The Center for Human Services Research at SUNY Albany has been a proud partner in New York State's children and family services and prevention efforts, including Healthy Families New York, since our inception. We are excited about this expansion of services and the opportunity for Center for Human Services Research to provide high-quality data system management and technical assistance, and conduct research and evaluations that will demonstrate the impacts of these funds and programs on the lives of New York State children."

NYS Early Childhood Advisory Council Co-Chairs Patricia Persell and Sherry Cleary said, "Home visiting is a critical way to connect with families with very young children. Expanding Healthy Families is a smart investment in children, families and the future of New York."

Schuyler Center for Analysis and Advocacy President and CEO Kate Breslin said, "For over 20 years Schuyler Center has successfully led an effort to bring attention and resources to maternal, infant and early childhood home visiting. Evidence-based home visiting holds the promise to help New York State move the needle on some of the most vexing problems confronting its children-including poverty, maltreatment, and educational and health disparities. We commend Governor Hochul for recognizing the importance of this investment in New York's children and families."

Assemblymember Andrew Hevesi said, "I am thrilled that $11 million was included in the budget to expand Healthy Families New York, a home visiting program that supports families by offering prenatal and early childhood services, including helping families access community resources and services, educating families on parenting and child development, connecting families with medical providers and assessing children for developmental delays. These early interventions are crucial to set our children and families up for success. Thank you to Commissioner Poole and everyone at the New York State Office of Children and Family Services for their swift action in utilizing these funds to get services to families right away."

Targeted counties are Cayuga, Chautauqua, Columbia, Essex, Fulton, Genesee, Greene, Hamilton, Lewis, Montgomery, Nassau, Onondaga, Putnam, Saratoga, Schoharie, Schuyler, Seneca, Tompkins, Warren, Washington and Wyoming.

Proposals are due for submission on or before June 3, 2022. The full RFP and additional information including the Bidder's Notice are available here. <https://ocfs.ny.gov/main/contracts/funding/>

NICK NEEDS KIDNEY -TYPE 0 (IN SOME CASES TYPE A BLOOD COULD WORK)

Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) progresses in stages and, if untreated, can lead to complete loss of kidney function. At CKD stage 5, when both kidneys fail completely, the only options for survival are dialysis or a kidney transplant. Nick is at stage 5.

More about our warrior Nick....

Nick was diagnosed with Tuberous Sclerosis Complex (TSC) at birth. TSC is a neurological disorder that produces seizures, tumors, and lesions that effect the organs of the body and can cause Autism. Nick has been battling with seizures his whole life from infantile spasms to adult grand-mal seizures. May 2019 we heard the worst news that Nick's function was under 10% on both kidneys. Since then Nick has had multiple surgeries so he could get the proper dialysis preformed. Nick goes in center for 4 hours 3 times a week. Not what the sweetest, kindest, 31 year old should be going through.

Nick has such a big heart and is loved by so many in our community. We all want Nick to have the best quality of life and going through dialysis does not provide that quality. We hope and pray a kidney comes to us and that Nick will be able to live a happy and healthy life doing what he loves and that is to bicycle all throughout our town making people smile. Nick is a big part of the community, he takes pride with his volunteer work with the EMS and is the Honorary member of the Monticello Fire Department.

Lets all band together for Nick and help him find a kidney so he can live life to the fullest!

TO THE EDITOR:

Hello, my name is Thomas Houghtaling. I am a student at Tri-Valley Central School and I am currently in a class called Civics and Social Justice. In this class, I am working on a project focused on recycling and waste management.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle

According to the Environmental Center of the University of Colorado Boulder, landfills produce dangerous gasses including methane, that poison the ground around them, and there are over 1,800,000 acres of them across the US.

Other research suggests that the US creates 2 billion tons of waste per year which means that the average person in the US creates more than 1,600 pounds of waste per year. This means that the US produces 40% of the world's waste, even though we only make up 5% of the world's population. If we don't take action now, within 30 years we will produce 3.4 billion tons of waste per year. However, if we reduce, reuse, and recycle, we can reduce the amount of waste that is created.

Recycling is one of the best methods to help keep waste out of landfills. However, many people put more trash into landfills due to a lack of knowledge about their recycling programs. There are many places in Sullivan County in which recycling can be brought. The Bottle Depot in Monticello, local transfer stations, and local Walmarts and ShopRites are a few examples of places that accept recycling. Bottles and cans can be dropped off to any of these areas, but other types of recyclable materials should be brought to a local transfer station.

Because I feel so passionate about this issue, I will be organizing events and creating programs very soon. Be on the lookout for information that will be coming soon.

Thomas Houghtaling
TVCS Student

Russian Devil Threatens The World

The Russian invasion of Ukraine and the attendant destruction, deaths and war crimes against humanity has dramatically changed the status of our world, and it is a wakeup call for Europe to be ready to confront Russia.

We are faced with a Russian devil who launches missiles to indiscriminately kill civilians and destroy civilian property. Ukraine needs the capability to destroy Russian missile launching sites.

Europe remembers the murders, destruction and subjugation of WWII, and history is now repeating itself in Ukraine. NATO countries have to vastly increase their militaries, both defensively and offensively, to thwart Russia. Tactical nuclear missile systems should be deployed within NATO countries. The addition of Sweden and Finland to NATO will give it strategic presence in the north.

Economic sanctions against Russia must be maintained for years to drive the Russian economy into a depression. This will hurt the civilian population, but it is necessary to deprive the Russian military of funding, and hopefully significantly degrade it over time; and Russia must pay trillions of dollars in war reparations to rebuild Ukraine. The Russian devil and other Russian hierarchy should be considered pariahs of the world for years to come, and Russian embassies should be reduced to skeleton staffs.

P.S. Please contribute to Ukrainian relief agencies.

Tri-Valley BOE Candidates

I would like to introduce myself to the community of Tri-Valley Central School District. My name is Mary Tierney, and I am running for the School Board. I am a lifelong resident of Sullivan County and have lived in the Tri-Valley school district for over 25 years.

My husband Matthew and I have raised our 6 children in this community and all of our children have attended Tri-Valley school. Our first 5 children have all graduated from TVCS and our youngest child is entering into the 9th grade this Fall. I now also have grandchildren attending this school as well. Therefore, I have a personal and vested interest in the families and youth of our community and in the quality of the education provided to our children.

I believe in the importance of traditional family values and that parents should not only be allowed but should be encouraged to take an active role in their children's education. I am running for the school board to be a voice for the families of this community to ensure our children continue to receive the education they deserve: one of quality, one that is safe, one that protects their innocence, and one that upholds the rights of parents.

Thank you for your support when you vote on May 17th.

Mary Tierney

My name is Corey Borden. I am running for the Tri-Valley Central School Board of Education.

I am a proud graduate of the TVCS class of 1996. I spent 10 years as a student in Tri-Valley, 4 years in the SUNY system studying Elementary Education, 2 years obtaining a Masters Degree in Reading & Literacy, and 20 years as an educator in the neighboring Ellenville Central School District. In 10 years time, I will have dedicated 30 years of service as a New York State Public School Teacher. My area of expertise lies in public education. I have two children in our district, a daughter in the elementary school and a son in the secondary school. I am homegrown, raised in the quaint Town of Neversink on the backside of the beautiful Neversink Reservoir.

I run for the Board of Education on a Core 4:

- 1- the educational rights of each individual student
- 2- the liberties of each individual student
- 3- the safety & security of each individual student
- 4- the betterment of the school climate & communication for each individual member of the school community

If you want a quality educator and a vested community member who will be a pillar of support, putting the student body first and foremost, on your team, vote for Borden on May 17th!

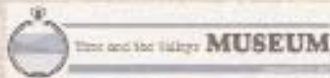

Thank you to the current board and my fellow candidates; George, Robert, Mary, Tami, Travis and Tim for stepping up to this civic responsibility. I look forward to the opportunity to confront tough challenges and work collaboratively.

Governor Hochul Signs Legislation Eliminating Discriminatory Language from Parts of Education Law and Prohibiting Intimidation and Retaliation Against Students

- Legislation (S.6744/A.7981) Removes Archaic Stigmatizing Term 'Incorrigible' to Protect Students
- Legislation (S.6529/A.9391) Prohibits Intimidation and Retaliation Against Students Who File Complaints Against Proprietary Schools

Governor Kathy Hochul signed legislation to protect the rights of students in New York by eliminating a sexist and racist term from certain sections of education law. Legislation (S.6744/A.7981) is intended to address the stigma and historical racial bias of being labelled 'incorrigible' by removing the term from reference in education law. Additionally, Governor Hochul signed legislation (S.6529/A.9391), which explicitly prohibits discrimination, intimidation, and retaliation against proprietary school students who file a complaint or exercise their right of private action.

"It is essential that New York's educational institutions are places where all students, no matter how they look or express themselves, can pursue their fullest potential free from bias and intimidation," Governor Hochul said. "In New York, our diversity is our strength, and this legislation will help ensure that young women, especially young women of color, are not stigmatized by this outdated term and are protected from abuses of power."

Legislation (S.6744/A.7981) is intended to address the stigma of being labelled 'incorrigible' by removing the term from reference in education law. 'Incorrigible,' or 'incapable of being corrected, not reformable' as defined by Merriam-Webster, is a term that has historically been applied to girls of color for behavior that is not stereotypically feminine. This bill aims to right the historical wrongs of racial bias and discrimination that stemmed from use of the word by removing reference to the term "incorrigible" in education law.

Legislation (S.6529/A.9391) prohibits discrimination, intimidation, and retaliation against proprietary school students who file a complaint or exercise their right of private action against such schools. State law currently provides students with the right to file a written complaint against licensed private career school conduct with the State Education Department, as well as providing for a private right of action outside the Education Department's complaint procedure. However, the law does not provide any protections against retaliation for students in proprietary or for-profit colleges. By signing this bill, Governor Hochul has now expanded protections to students in these schools. Students will no longer have to be intimidated or threatened by unscrupulous school administrators or leadership for exercising their legal rights.

Statement from Senator Mike Martucci Billy's Law Passes Committee

My bill S.8181, otherwise known as Billy's Law, advanced through the Senate Codes Committee today on a vote that crossed party lines. Billy's Law is a commonsense and bipartisan piece of legislation to protect our firefighters from dangerous felon arsonists who are currently mandatorily released under the failed bail reform law.

Today's committee vote proves those merits and is an enormous step toward justice for Assistant Chief Billy Steinberg—the bill's namesake who was a volunteer with the Forestburgh Fire Company in Sullivan County that died in the line of duty at a fire started by a serial arsonist earlier this year.

I thank my colleagues, both Democrat and Republican, who have heard the pleas of Billy's family and know this bill is a step in the right direction for public safety in our State. My thoughts are with Billy's family today - as they have been every day since their tragic loss, and I look forward to continuing the push on their behalf to get Billy's Law to the Senate Floor for a full vote.

Governor Hochul Signs Legislation Preventing Colleges from Withholding Students Transcripts because of Unpaid Debts

Legislation S.5924-C/A.6938-B Ensures Students Have Access to Transcript Data Necessary to Complete Their Degree and Obtain Employment

Governor Previously Ordered SUNY and CUNY to End this Practice

Accomplishes 2022 State of the State Goal of Ending Transcript Withholding Statewide

Governor Kathy Hochul signed legislation S.5924-C/A.6938-B that prohibits colleges from withholding a student's transcript because of unpaid debts or charging individuals who owe debts a higher fee to obtain their transcript. This legislation ensures that students can access their transcript when necessary so that they may continue their education or find a job.

"Transcripts are critical for students to continue pursuing their educational and career goals," Governor Hochul said. "To hold transcripts hostage until outstanding debts are paid is an unfair, predatory practice that prevents our students from reaching their full potential. I was proud to make ending transcript withholding a top priority and took action to end this practice at SUNY and CUNY in January. Today, we put an end to this abhorrent policy for all higher education institutions to ensure a level playing field for New York's students."

The tactic of withholding student transcripts or overcharging for their release has been used by some colleges in the state to leverage collection of outstanding debts, however one is not related to the other. Withholding a student's transcript is a punitive measure that penalizes students with less resources, while ironically making it more difficult for them to advance in higher education or obtain employment that will allow them to make outstanding payments.

Governor Hochul made the proposal to end this practice in her 2022 State of the State Address. In January, the Governor announced that the SUNY board and CUNY board voted to end the practice.

State Senator Kevin Thomas said, "Transcripts are a record of a student's education -- they are not and were never meant to be tools for debt collection. Transcript withholding is a disruptive, counter-productive, and harmful practice that prevents students from being able to transfer credits, re-enroll in school to finish their degrees, or obtain jobs that could help them pay their balances. Each withheld transcript represents a student who was denied the opportunity to pursue a chosen career path, denied access to social and economic mobility through higher education, and ultimately denied access to the American Dream. I thank Governor Hochul for signing this important legislation to stop the practice of transcript withholding and empower students across New York State."

Assemblymember Harvey Epstein said, "Today's a great moment for students in New York. No longer will students be punished as they try to advance in their academic and professional careers. Removing the barrier of transcript withholding will help get students into the next step in their lives, while they work to meet their obligations to their schools. I'm proud to have worked with Senator Kevin Thomas, Chair of the Assembly Committee on Higher Education, Deborah Glick, and many higher education advocates to pass this legislation. I want to thank the Governor for standing up for students by signing our bill."

One Pill Can Kill - Fentanyl Awareness Day May 10

May 10 is the first ever National Fentanyl Awareness Day, set up to draw attention to the fentanyl crisis that has been in the shadows of the opioid epidemic for too long. It is time for it to be front and center as the destruction left behind by illicitly manufactured fentanyl (IMF) is a public health emergency.

Congressmen David Trone (D-MD) and Fred Upton (R-MI) led a group of their colleagues in introducing a House resolution designating May 10, 2022, as National Fentanyl Awareness Day. Overdose deaths have skyrocketed in recent years, largely due to the influx of fentanyl - a synthetic opioid - being mixed into illicit and counterfeit drugs. Senators Dianne Feinstein (D-CA) and Chuck Grassley (R-IA) are leading the effort in the Senate.

In the 12-month period ending in October 2021, more than 105,000 Americans died from drug overdoses. Nearly 69,000 of those deaths involved fentanyl. As of March 2022, fentanyl is now the leading cause of death for Americans ages 18 to 45, according to data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) estimates that nearly 40% of counterfeit pills contain potentially lethal doses of fentanyl, which is 2mg or the equivalent of a few grains of sugar. The number of counterfeit pills containing fentanyl seized by the DEA has increased more than 500% since 2019, up to 9.5 million counterfeit pills in 2021. Such pills can include Adderall, Xanax, and Valium, and are manufactured to look identical to authentic prescriptions. The CDC also warn that fentanyl can be laced into heroin, cocaine, and methamphetamine.

“Synthetic opioids like fentanyl have become the number one driver of drug-related deaths in America. Even worse, most folks don't even know the real dangers of fentanyl-laced drugs before taking them,” said Congressman Trone, Co-Founder and Co-Chair of the Bipartisan Addiction and Mental Health Task Force. “As a country, we need to take charge of our own destiny to not only stem the supply of these lethal drugs across our borders, but also reduce the demand in our own communities through prevention, treatment, recovery, and harm reduction. By increasing the awareness of fentanyl and its deadly impacts, we can save lives.”

“Sadly, millions of Americans know the pain and anguish of losing a loved one to an overdose. Last year more than 100,000 thousand Americans lost their lives and their battle with this highly-addictive drug,” said Congressman Upton. “On this day of awareness, we hope to remember those we have lost as well as address the root cause of these tragic deaths. We must hold the manufacturers and sellers accountable and provide treatment to those afflicted with addiction.”

“Once fueled by prescription drugs, the opioid epidemic that has ravaged the United States for years is now fueled primarily by fentanyl, a synthetic opioid that is lethal at extremely low doses. This means when illegal drug dealers mix small amounts of the drug into counterfeit pills, the risk of an overdose death rises exponentially,” said Senator Feinstein. “With fentanyl-related deaths climbing every year, we must do more to raise awareness of what is fueling record-high overdose deaths.”

“Fentanyl has poisoned the streets of our communities, including through counterfeit pills that are made to look like prescription drugs. These fake pills are often sold on social media or other online platforms to teenagers and young adults, which has worsened the substance abuse crisis. By joining our effort to raise awareness, law enforcement officers, parents and educators across the country can take proactive steps to get illicit counterfeit pills off the streets and help save lives,” Senator Grassley said. The resolution is cosponsored in the House by Madeleine Dean (D-PA), Brian Fitzpatrick (R-PA), and Chris Pappas (D-NH). For more information and resources on National Fentanyl Awareness Day, visit fentanylawarenesday.org. Full text of the resolution is available at:

https://trone.house.gov/wp-content/uploads/2022/05/TRONE\_055\_xml.pdf

Who is most at risk?

Broadly, there are two groups of people at risk of unintentional death due to IMF. The first are people who already have opioid dependency and have built a tolerance to opioids. Even though these people consume opioids daily, they do not know what type of fentanyl they are being exposed to when purchasing illegal opioids. There are various analogues that represent an array of purity and potency, some of which are fatal. Therefore, opioid dependent individuals are not “safe” or “inoculated” from a fatal fentanyl overdose because they are opioid tolerant. For example, an individual who has an established tolerance to consume 50mgs of oxycodone, may consume what they believe to be 50mgs of oxycodone, but in reality, they are counterfeit pressed IMF pills that may lead to fatal overdose. The same applies for individuals abusing heroin. They might have an established tolerance of consuming 6-bags of heroin but experience a fatal overdose due to IMF because the heroin has either been “laced” (adulterated) or replaced with IMF.

The second group of people are recreational drug users, and sometimes first-time drug users, who may buy what they believe to be an opioid like oxycodone, or a benzodiazepine like alprazolam (brand name - Xanax), when in fact, they are getting a counterfeit pill pressed with IMF. These counterfeit pills are scored and dyed to look like the “real thing.” Deaths involving fentanyl are fastest growing in 14-23-year-olds, which is typically the ages at which young people are trying things out and going to college[v]. People in this second group do not have a previous substance use disorder and are considered opioid naïve, meaning they have no tolerance to opioids. This speaks to one of the key takeaways for National Fentanyl Awareness Day, which is making the public aware and helping them understand that - One Pill Can Kill.

It is also important to call attention to drug-dealers who may be exposing other drugs, including marijuana and stimulants such as cocaine, with fentanyl due to cross-contamination. Cross-contamination occurs when one drug, such as cocaine is contaminated with fentanyl. This can be intentional or unintentional. For example, a dealer may be packaging up fentanyl on a designated area and neglect to clean it before emptying and packaging another drug, such as marijuana on the same surface area. The consequence that follows is exposing an individual who intended to buy only marijuana with fentanyl, which could unfortunately result in a fatal fentanyl exposure or poisoning.

According to an article in the Times Herald-Record, “State data shows Sullivan County had 48 opioid deaths in 2020, giving it by far the most fatalities per 100,000 residents out of all 57 New York counties outside New York City.”

“A state of Florida man pleaded guilty to drug-dealing charges in Sullivan County last week and faces up to 15 years in prison when he's sentenced in July. Jahmal Ford, 43, admitted attempting to operate as a major trafficker for trying to distribute heroin, cocaine and oxycodone in Sullivan County, working from his home in Kissimmee, Florida.”

The 30th Annual Letter Carriers' Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive Saturday, May 14th, 2022

An estimated 45 million Americans experience food insecurity every year. You can make a difference by participating in NALC's #StampOutHunger Food Drive, the largest one-day food drive in the country. People who have questions about the drive in their area should ask their letter carrier, contact their local post office,

CASA Volunteers Needed - make a difference in a child's life

Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASAs) are specially-trained, objective community volunteers appointed by Family Court to advocate for children who are in out-of-home placement or who are at risk of being placed in foster care.

CASA is appointed by court order to collaborate with others involved in a child's case and gather information from all interested persons including parents, foster parents, teachers, case managers, doctors, therapists, attorneys, other service providers, and the child. CASA provides fact-based reports to assist the court in addressing the child's needs and in determining what is in their best interest.

When CASA is appointed, children are either in foster care or in the care of their parents or extended family with services and family court oversight. Many are safely reunified with the parents. In other cases, children and youth are permanently placed with relatives or are adopted.

CASA's ultimate goal is for children to grow up in permanent, safe, healthy family homes. FREE training provided, NO experience needed! Contact us! Phone: 845-372-8771

Standing for Free Speech and Against Censorship

President Biden is proposing an unconstitutional 'Ministry of Truth' to silence dissenting views and stop the spread of information he does not like. This is entirely un-American and sets a dangerous precedent. The First Amendment protects every citizen's right to free speech and ensures the government does not target political and other views. I am calling for Biden to drop this misguided policy immediately. In the meantime, I am cosponsoring two pieces of legislation to ensure no federal taxpayer dollars are ever used to fund the Ministry of Truth.

The first measure I cosponsored was introduced by Congressman Mike Johnson (LA), and it bars federal funding for the Disinformation Governance Board. The second measure was introduced by Congressman August Pfluger (TX) and similarly bars federal funds from being authorized or appropriated to the Department of Homeland Security for the purposes of establishing the body.

This week I also joined more than 170 of my colleagues in sending a letter to the Department of Homeland Security demanding answers about the proposed Ministry of Truth, including what the Department considered to be the "legal authority" the Administration used to establish the body without congressional approval. I will always defend our First Amendment rights.

Our Veterans Must ALWAYS Come First

Recently, I told you about the Biden Administration's plans to divert medical personnel from the Department of Veterans Affairs to the Southern Border to process a surge of illegal immigrants expected to arrive after the termination of Title 42. This is absolutely unacceptable.

This week, I became an original cosponsor of the Veterans First Act. This bill stops the White House from diverting resources for our veterans to manage their self-inflicted Southern Border crisis. Read bill at: <https://www.congress.gov/bill/117th-congress/house-bill/7637?q=%7B%22search%22%3A%22Veterans+First+Act%22%7D&s=1&r=1>

The Independence of the Supreme Court is Under Attack

This week, a draft decision in the highly-anticipated Supreme Court case Dobbs v. Jackson was leaked to the press. To put it frankly, this was an attack on the independence of the Court. Those responsible for the unauthorized leak of Supreme Court documents should be identified and held accountable. As a lawyer and the daughter of the late New York State Supreme Court Judge John R. Tenney, I'm disheartened by the egregious act of professional and ethical malfeasance targeted at the heart of our judicial system's independence. It is designed to weaken the court and to intimidate its Justices.

The draft ruling reflects the very simple yet profound and enduring truth that the right to abortion is not one that has ever been guaranteed or protected by the Constitution of the United States. This nonexistent constitutional right should never have been codified by an activist Supreme Court, and it remains a fundamentally moral question that should be determined by voters and the public officials they elect. If the draft ruling stands, it thankfully will be once again.

We must continue advocating compassionately for pro-life policies to secure the opportunity of life and liberty for all, including the unborn.

Rome Lab is Vital to Our National Security and Upstate Community!

Tenney Testifies in Support of Rome Lab at House Armed Services Member Day

Recently, I testified in support of the Air Force Research Lab Information Directorate, also known as Rome Lab, at the House Armed Services Committee (HASC). I had the privilege of joining HASC for a full committee hearing on "Member Day" to ask for the Committee's support for three key investments in Rome Lab in the 2023 National Defense Authorization Act. You can learn more about these priorities by going to: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GqUSO-LcCk0>

These initiatives greatly expand Rome Lab's capabilities and in turn enable the United States to compete globally with our adversaries, dominate the virtual battlespace, and counter emerging threats to our country.

As part of the 2022 national defense bill, I fought hard to successfully secure the inclusion of an additional $30 million in funding for Rome Lab. This included additional funding for the quantum network testbed, ion trap quantum computing, and the Air Force's academic partnership intermediary agreements.

Tours are Back in Washington!

As our nation returns to normal and reopens, it is my pleasure to share that tours of the White House and Capitol Building have made their long-awaited return!

While tours have resumed at several government locations, sites such as the U.S. Capitol are doing so incrementally. As such, we are still limited in how many constituent tours we are permitted to host each week. At the present time, tours of the Capitol Building have been restricted to one appointment per office per week. Please note, the White House requires 21 days minimum notice to accommodate any tour requests. Availability for both of these tours is extremely limited. I urge you to reach out to my office as soon as possible regarding all future tour requests. You can do so by accessing my tour request portal here: https://tenney.house.gov/address\_authentication?form=/services/tours-and-tickets.

While my office may be unable to secure a Congressional tour for all the sites you have selected given the high demand and currently limited availability, there are a number of locations that remain available for public tours. I urge you to visit for more information regarding these opportunities.

Such locations include the Supreme Court and the National Archives, which you can view here: <https://www.supremecourt.gov/visiting/visitorservices.aspx> and here: <https://www.gillibrand.senate.gov/help/visiting-dc> You may also wish to register to receive your very own reader registration card through the Library of Congress, which you can do here <https://reader-registration.loc.gov/readerreg/remote/>

(Contd. Pg. 57)

This Week with Claudia

(From Pg. 56)

I would also suggest you contact your U.S. Senators, as they too have been successful in accommodating tour requests. You can submit a tour request to Senator Schumer's office here <https://www.schumer.senate.gov/services/visiting>, as well as to Senator Gillibrand here <https://www.gillibrand.senate.gov/help/visiting-dc>

I believe strongly that our Nation's Capitol Building should be opened, which is why I have joined my colleagues in numerous public letters to Speaker Nancy Pelosi urging her to reopen the Capitol for tours. Although tours have started to return, there are still far too many restrictions in place. The American people deserve full access. Rest assured that my office will do all it can to accommodate as many requests as possible. We appreciate your understanding in this matter and wish all visitors a safe and pleasant trip to Washington.

Gillibrand Leads FY23 Appropriations Request to Fully Fund the USDA Rural Broadband Program

Access To High-Speed Quality Broadband Will Connect People To Good-Paying Jobs, Telehealth Appointments, and Help Close The Growing Digital Divide;

Senator Gillibrand Previously Led this Push for FY20, FY21, and FY22

WASHINGTON, DC - Today, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand held a video press conference to announce her push for full funding of the USDA Rural Broadband Program for Fiscal Year 2023. The 2018 Senate-passed Farm Bill increased the annual funding authorization level of the USDA broadband program to $350 million. Additionally, Congress authorized supplemental funding of $1.9 billion over ten years for the ReConnect program in the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, totaling an additional $2 billion investment in USDA programs for expanding broadband in rural areas. Gillibrand co-leads this letter with Senator Roger Marshall (R-KS).

"Reliable, high-speed internet access isn't a luxury anymore - it is a necessity and one of the most important tools that communities need in order to thrive in the 21st century," said Senator Gillibrand. "I am proud to lead this annual push and urge appropriators to fully fund the USDA Rural Broadband Program to improve broadband infrastructure across the nation. We must close the digital divide in our country and ensure that every American has access to essential technological resources, no matter their zip code or socioeconomic status."

Without access to high-quality, affordable broadband service, workers have fewer opportunities for good-paying jobs, farmers and business owners are isolated from new markets, children are limited in educational opportunities, and health care providers do not have reliable access to the most advanced technology available to help patients. The COVID-19 pandemic intensified the educational divide, with an estimated 12 million students lacking reliable internet access at home in early 2021. This problem particularly affects students in rural areas, as well as lower-income students and students of color.

Senator Gillibrand has repeatedly fought to deliver funding to ensure students and families have access to reliable internet at home. She continues her leadership in this annual push, following her call for funding in FY20, FY21, and FY22. She also pushed to prioritize high-speed broadband in the American Rescue Plan, which delivered more than $7.1 billion nationally to provide internet and connected devices to vulnerable students and educators. In the 2018 Farm Bill, Senator Gillibrand successfully included a provision to make grant funding available for rural broadband projects in high-need areas. This provision, based on Gillibrand's bipartisan Broadband Connections for Rural Opportunities Program Act (B-CROP Act), encourages more high-speed broadband deployment to high-need areas by awarding grants in combination with loan funding available through the USDA's Rural Utilities Service. Gillibrand previously called on FCC leadership to authorize available emergency funds for the E-Rate program as schools and students relied on remote learning during the pandemic. The E-Rate program allowed students to learn safely from home while guaranteeing online access to course materials.

New Citizens to Take Oath in Ulster County

Ulster County Clerk Nina Postupack announces that a naturalization ceremony will take place at the historic Ulster County Courthouse on Wall Street in Kingston on Friday, May 13th at 11:00 a.m.

Approximately 18 new citizens will take their Oaths of Allegiance accepting the responsibilities of an American, while also gaining the rights and privileges afforded to most Americans by birth. "I am honored to be a part of such a special ceremony," states Ulster County Clerk Nina Postupack. "It's a moving experience to watch as people are finally able to realize their dream of becoming a U.S. citizen."

Due to the Office of Court Administration's COVID safety protocols, no outside observers will be permitted to attend the ceremony. There are, however, several local elected officials and organizations who will be helping to welcome the new citizens by awarding them with congratulatory certificates and providing them with useful resources and materials.

Presiding over the ceremony will be the Honorable David M. Gandin, Supreme Court Justice, State of New York. Judge Gandin will be the keynote speaker welcoming our 18 participants as newly naturalized American Citizens.

For further information about the ceremony or other programs of the Ulster County Clerk's Office, please contact County Clerk Nina Postupack at (845) 340-3040 or countyclerk@co.ulster.ny.us.

Kingston Stockade FC Announces Jersey Sponsorship with Community Playthings

KINGSTON, N.Y. - Semi-professional soccer team Kingston Stockade FC has named Community Playthings as their primary front-of-shirt sponsor for the 2022 NPSL season.

Stockade FC Chairman Dennis Crowley said that Community Playthings' ties to the local soccer community was what made the new sponsorship such a great fit for the Hudson Valley club.

"We are extremely excited to have Community Playthings on our jerseys, and just involved with Stockade overall," said Crowley. "They have been extremely supportive of the local community and our home field of Dietz Stadium for years, and they also have a strong connection to soccer in the Hudson Valley through all their success with programs at The Mount Academy."

"Since 2010 when Dietz Stadium was last up-graded, Community Playthings has been committed to working with the City of Kingston and the Kingston City School District to maintain and improve Dietz Stadium. Since 2015 it has been wonderful to see the contributions that Stockade FC brings to Kingston and mid-Hudson Valley soccer. To show support for Stockade and our home city of Kingston, Community Playthings is excited to sponsor Stockade FC and support youth soccer programs. The sense of community and family at Stockade FC home games is strong", said Community Playthings chairman John Rhodes.

The Mount Academy, located in Esopus, N.Y., won both the boys and girls NY State Class D high-school soccer titles in 2021, and has been one of the most successful scholastic soccer programs in the Hudson Valley over recent years. The Mount Academy is operated by the Bruderhof, who also own and operate Community Playthings, which creates furniture and equipment for school and nursery classrooms.

Community Playthings is not the only local sponsor that will appear on Stockade's new Capelli kits. Esteemed local cabinet builders Cabinet Designers are back for a fourth season as a sponsor (back of jersey) and local radio station Radio Woodstock is back for a sixth season (sleeve).

In additional sponsorship updates, while Trailways NY will no longer be featured on the front of the jersey, the local bus company will continue to be the exclusive transportation provider for Stockade FC. Their banners and buses will continue to appear at home games, as will sideline sponsors Ingalsbe Law, Bread Alone and Radio Kingston.

Founded in 2015, Kingston Stockade FC is entering its sixth season in the NPSL (National Premier Soccer League). While Stockade FC did not play in 2020 due to the season being canceled due to COVID, the club had a great season last year, earning a trip to the Conference Championship game, and is looking forward to welcoming thousands of fans back to Dietz Stadium for another great season of spring and summertime soccer matches.

Kingston Stockade Football Club is a men's semi-professional soccer team based in Kingston, N.Y. Stockade FC represents the Hudson Valley in the NPSL, which is the 4th division of the U.S. soccer pyramid. For more information on Kingston Stockade FC, visit <http://stockadefc.com>
