The 2017 summer season begins in Forestburgh on June 13th with the Sherlock Holmes mystery, "Baskerville". I'm looking forward to seeing it.

The 2017-2018 Tri-Valley School District budget passed. Kudos to Patrick Kelly who was re-elected to the Board of Education. Congratulations to the newly elected Board Members, Christopher Gozza

On the outskirts of a small town in Maine, a "thrifty" Frenchman opened a roadhouse, and his excellent cooking brought him speedy success. Only one thing marred his happiness. Late each afternoon an old gentleman would amble around to the back of the roadhouse, and blissfully breathe in the aromas wafted from the kitchen. Yet he never spent a dime inside. Finally, the exasperated Frenchman hailed the old man into court and demanded damages. After the judge heard the complaint, he told the defendant, "Give me all the change you have in your pocket." The old man handed up a dozen or so assorted coins. Solemnly, the judge cupped his hand and gave the coins a vigorous shaking. Then he handed them back again. "And now," said the judge to the Frenchman, "he's smelled your cooking and you've listened to his money. That's about as near as I can come to a square deal. Case dismissed." (author unknown)

Words of Wisdom: We probably wouldn't worry about what people think of us if we could only know how seldom they do. (Olin Miller) One of the most difficult things to give away is kindness - it is usually returned. (Cort R. Fish Tales from Sundown!

Once upon a time, John Burroughs, a naturalist and an avid fisherman waded in our back yards in Sundown as he fished in the Rondout Creek during the early 19th century. In his book,"A Bed of Boughs," Burroughs wrote about the Rondout Creek. He stated, "If I were a trout, I would ascend every stream until I found the Rondout."

There are several different species of trout that inhabit the Rondout Creek that flows through Sundown and into the Rondout Reservoir. brown trout, a non-Native fish seem to be the most common today. A brown trout can grow to 10lbs or more. They have an olive or brown colored body and dark brown or red spots. The tail is square with few or no spots on it. It has two dorsal fins including one adipose fin, used for the storage of fat, light pectoral fins, a square tail with 9-10 rays in the anal fin. Their undersides, including the lower jaw, are white to pearl. The dorsal fin is typically yellow-olive, marked with brown to black spots. Lower fins including the pectoral, pelvic and anal have white margins, paralleled just above by a dark zone and are otherwise yellow-olive to amber, and sometimes yellow orange. The brown trout has a broad square tongue with 11-12 large teeth. Breeding males develop a long, hooked jaw and tend to be brighter in overall coloration. The brown trout matures in 3 to 4

The ideal temperature for the brown trout is 56°F to 66°F. Notably, the brown trout can survive in water that may be too warm for other trout species, such as the brook trout.

Since brown trout spawn in tributary streams in September and October, they begin to take up residence near stream outlets in spring and early sum-After ascending a particular stream, brown trout spawners choose shallow, gravelly or rocky areas. The female creates a shallow depression (redd) in the gravel, in which the spawning fish deposit the eggs and sperm. Females produce approximately 10,000 eggs. When the process is completed, the female covers the redd with gravel.

Juvenile brown trout feed on insects or other invertebrates. Young browns are preyed upon by larger fish and by predatory birds.

The diet of adult brown trout includes insects and their larvae, crustaceans, mollusks, amphibians, small rodents and other fish. They enjoy a rather long lifespan. Researchers have observed them to live up to 13 years.

Several specific countries that have been cited as native for the brown trout include the European countries of Ireland, Iceland, Sweden, Germany, France and Greece.

Apparently the trout that John Burroughs spoke of were not brown trout as they were not brought to North American until the second half of the 19th century. They were introduced into New York waters in 1883. Borwn Trout have thrived in their new home in the Rondout Creek since the late 19th century. After the building of the Rondout Reservoir, they become firmly established in the Rondout Reservoir, too.

... and John Burroughs is not the only one with a tale about the trout in the Rondout. Stop by the Sundown Camp and Bait Shop, along the Rondout Creek on Sundown Road, and you will see some recent pictures that tell other stories of the trout recently caught by enthusiastic anglers.

What You Break

Mysterious Book Report No. 288

by John Dwaine McKenna One year ago – May 2016 – in MBR No. 246, we alerted our readers to a new, compelling and haunting crime fiction character by the name of Gus Murphy. He's the embodiment of the noir persona, a man dealing with a boatload of personal pain and grief, while living and operating on the gritty south shore of New York's Long Island . . . a place of crime and gang infested streets as far removed from the glitzy, super-rich north shore hamlets on Long Island Sound, as ice cream is from burnt meat. Now, he's back, in the second installment of what looks to be a long-running and well-read series that will finally get Reed Farrel Coleman the long overdue Edgar Award he so richly deserves.

What You Break, (Putnam/Penguin Random House, $27.00, 357 pages, ISBN 978-0-399-17304-2) finds the beleaguered John Augustus Murphy still living at the Paragon Motel in Suffolk County, still trying to pick up the pieces of his shattered life and still driving the courtesy bus to the airport on the night shift. He eats his personal pain, mourning the untimely death of his son and the breakup of his marriage internally, self-medicating himself with alcohol and a two-pack-a-day habit . . . his only friends are Slava, the mysterious east European, Ukrainian or Russian night doorman, and Felix, the desk clerk.

Gus's self-induced fog of grief is lifted temporarily, when he's coerced by a shady billionaire into finding out why his granddaughter was stabbed to death, with promises – and an uncashed $50,000 check – to fund a foundation in John Murphy Junior's name. The Suffolk County Police Department has the girl's killer in jail, but he won't talk and her grandfather is desperate to know why. At the same time, Slava's past deeds come back to haunt him, demanding retribution. When Gus witnesses a cold-blooded execution, both his life and Salva's hangs in the balance, forcing Gus to evade the cops, street gangs and the relentless Russian mercenary who wants to kill him. As Gus digs deeper, the mysterious twists and turns pry open doors on a past that's better left forgotten . . . where sleeping monsters start to awake . . . forcing Gus into a Faustian bargain with the Devil, as he struggles to save them all. The intricate plot will leave you guessing to the end, and the tough-guy action will keep you focused on page after page until the electrifying conclusion as Mr. Coleman demonstrates his absolute mastery of the crime fiction craft. This one's five-stars all the way! We just hope that the CWA judges are paying attention!

Fallsburg Honors a Decades Long Tradition of Scholarship

Fallsburg Central School District has been awarding Community Scholarships to worthy members of the senior class each year for over sixty-five years. The tradition continued on Sunday, May 7, 2017, with the honoring of eleven students and their families with scholarships at the annual Blossom Cohen

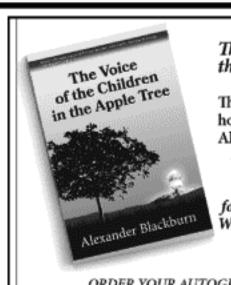

Luncheon at Bernie's Holiday Restaurant in Rock Hill, NY. Winners of Samuel Beytin Community Scholarships were Rebecca Budrock, Merime Cenovic, Mary Elizabeth Kellerman, Megan Langeland, Olav Peterson Langeland, and Pu (Samuel) Zheng. Brittany Mackiel earned two awards: Candy Gold Bolton Memorial and Nancy Solomon Memorial Scholarships. The Edward Bryan Memorial Scholarship went to Abigail Langeland. Brittany Leventoff received the Milton Brizel Memorial Scholarship, and Alexandria Porter earned the Blossom Cohen Memorial Scholarship. Grace Strauss received the Esther Mintz Flanagan Scholarship in memory of her parents Sarah and Isidor Mintz. Two students won honor awards for highest academic averages-Olav Peterson

Langeland and Pu (Samuel) Zheng.

Each recipient spoke eloquently in thanking the families that were responsible for providing the monetary awards that will help support them in their continuing education at various colleges and universities. Guidance Counselor Joe Levner was especially moved by the stories of the challenges in immigrating to America by the parents of Merime Cenovic (Albania) and Sam Zheng (China).

Chair Person of the Luncheon Committee was Ms. Renee Kates, who emceed the festivities. Superintendent Dr. Ivan Katz welcomed the guests, thanked the committee for their selfless work in keeping the scholarship program alive and vital for over sixty years, and acknowledged the scholarship winners, their families, and the school staff for supporting these special students over their years in Fallsburg. At the end of the ceremony in a tradition that honors the longevity and origins of this Scholarship Awards event, retired teacher Jay Kasofsky extended the regards of Mrs. Florence Beytin, widow of Samuel Beytin, who celebrated her 101st birthday this past year.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Four Seasons

Four seasons happened this week. No, I am not talking about the popular singing group from the sixties and seventies, I am referring to the four seasons of climate I experienced just last week. The week started with an autumnal rain, cold and damp, then changed to winter requiring wood stove heat and down coat. Next came summer with two consecutive record breaking days of 94 and 96. Delightful spring weather followed. Mother Nature is off her meds or overdosing on estrogen. Our weather is erratic at best and downright scary at worst.

Tornadoes are life threatening and hurricanes and northeasters are becoming so common that we run out of letters of the alphabet with which to name them. Weather can be forecasted with more certainty, but weather itself is a crap-shoot of uncertainty as if it were bi-polar on steroids.

This week Stephen Hawking, considered one of the greatest minds on the planet, issued dire warnings that sent ripples through the scientific community and the general populace. He told of an earth becoming like the planet Venus with 250 degree temperatures unable to sustain life as we know it.

The term "greenhouse effect" sometimes gets lumped in with vegan diets, acupuncture, transcendental meditation and granola that people with long hair and tie-dyed shirts talk about when they are not saving whales and hugging trees. Pardon my hyperbole, but Hawking scientifically defines the "green-house" effect as a real phenomenon that if, left unchecked by rampant use of fossil fuels, could choke our planet in rising temperatures that would warm oceans changing climates and flooding land forms.

Stephen Hawking reiterates '100 Years Left' prediction, saying it is time to find a new planet. Earth's atmosphere actually benefits from a limited "greenhouse effect" with sunlight penetrating the atmosphere by day and allowing 90% of that heat to escape back into space. Otherwise, our oceans would be frozen solid. However, as that atmosphere becomes more dense with carbon dioxide, it tends to hold in more and more heat. Venus, with an atmosphere of ninety times more intense than earth's, only allows heat in with virtually no escape turning it into a seething cauldron with no water and no life support.

I think Hawking's frightening predictions are meant to be a wake-up call not a certainty. Somehow when some scientist talks about a doomsday event thousands of years away, we can "ho-hum" and "pooh-pooh" it away, but a hundred years from now contains my great grandchildren. I am not willing to sacrifice them for some gasoline and plastic.

Step one, like that of an AA meeting, is to admit the problem. Yes, global warming is real, and we are fully capable of turning our stewardship of the planet around. It is time.

Enjoy the view.

Climate Leaders in Training

Frost Valley YMCA hosted a two-day Climate Change Youth Leadership Summit April 27-28 which drew 58 students and 18 teachers from 14 Watershed and NYC schools.

Jeanne Darling, Director Cornell Cooperative Extension of Delaware County, organized the highevent using a energy Watershed Education Grant from the CWC. Katie Morgan of the Wild Center and four Adirondack region high school students led many of the sessions designed to inspire and empower their peers to take action to stem climate change impacts in their schools and communities. CCE Delaware has been approved for a CWC grant to repeat the summit in 2018.

Multi-Species Showmanship Clinic on Local Farm

JEFFERSONVILLE, NY- "Showmanship is more than leading an animal around an arena or in front of a judge," according to Barbara Moran, 4-H animal science program coordinator and local farmer.

All youth interested in showing an animal can participate in a Multi-Species Showmanship Clinic on Sunday, June 4, 2017, offered by Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County (CCESC)'s 4-H Youth Development program. This clinic will be held from 1:00 to 3:00 pm at Stone Wall Farms on 136 Callicoon Center Road in Jeffersonville. Youth do not need an animal in order to participate.

Barbara Moran will present how to dis-play an animal to its greatest potential. Species highlighted will include alpaca, beef, dairy, goats, horses, poultry, rabbits, and sheep. In a round-robin session, par-ticipants will expand existing knowledge and learn new projects with topics ranging from presentation and showmanship to show etiquette.

Cost is $10 per youth. Partial scholar-ships are available with support from Sullivan Renaissance.

Space is limited and registration with non-refundable payment is required in advance. Registration can be completed by calling CCESC at 845-292-6180, emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, www.sullivancce.org. Payment can be made in advance by check, cash, or credit.

Anyone ages 5 to 19 can enroll in 4-H for free. Additional donations for CCESC programs are appreciated.

4-H empowers youth to reach their full potential, working and learning in partnership with caring adults. 4-H Members have opportunities to connect to Cornell University, learn through hands-on activities, lead, be inspired, inspire others, and "Make the Best Better". Anyone can join 4-H with thousands of other New York State members, volunteers, staff, and funders.

The Family Memoir, PROSILIO...

choice. As summer approaches, the story of a carefree vacation in the Catskills should be added to your summer "must-read" list. PROCEEDS TO BENEFIT THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

2nd Annual Wings and Wheels for Warriors

(From Pg. 1) All proceeds from the benefit will go directly to help Disabled American Veterans.

This year's Wings & Wheels for Warriors event happened to fall on the 67th anniversary of Armed Forces Day.

Trucks, show cars, jeeps, antique tractors, motorcycles, planes and Jim Richardson's super Slingshot were featured.

Each car, or car owner had a story. Here are a couple.

From Claryville, Iris and Charlie Breiner's story had a romantic twist. Their car was the car Charlie drove while he was courting Iris. After getting married, they decided to buy a new car and Charlie was going to trade his old car in, but it wasn't worth much on a trade in, so they decided they would keep it!

Now - after all these years, this beauty is probably worth more than it was when it was new! It's time for Iris and Charlie to go on a 'cruisin' 2nd Honeymoon'!

... and John and Joy Monforte, also from Claryville acquired their car when they realized none of their 'collectibles' was suitable to seat their family of four comfortably. While at a car show in Rhinebeck, Joy spotted this beautiful gem that they could all fit in comfortably.

Sold!- The Monforte's added a new car to their collection of vintage and antique cars.

There was even a car that had a sign on it that read, "Ask How God Saved my Life!'

No matter how

Aliens were Everywhere! (From Pg 1) At the UFO Fair there were many guest speakers including scientists, astronomers, and enthusiasts who shared their experiences, theories, and research. This year they had a very special guest well known in the UFO community and world renowned alleged abductee, Travis Walton. Travis traveled all the way from Arizona to join us for this event and share his famous UFO experience. An experience so famous, in fact, that they even made a movie about it: "Fire in the Sky", a movie about a logger, Travis Walton, whom mysteriously disappeared for five days after an encounter with a UFO. Friday night, as a jump start to the UFO festivities, they did a screening of a brand new documentary telling the detailed tale of Travis's experience: "Travis, the True Story of Travis Walton", an award winning documentary by Producer/Director Jennifer W. Stein. Featuring Travis Walton, and his crew members telling their stories about what happened that night. The Fair was an all day event featuring lots of family friendly events including, the "Miss Galaxy Pageant", "The Alien Game Show", a haunted barn display, a paranormal center, and a kids' corner with games, a bounce house, and face painting! All the shops on Main Street in Pine Bush were open for business, also, vendors lined the street with wonderfully smelling foods, crafts, clothes, and UFO novelties including handmade tin foil hats and crafts, clothes, and UFO novelties including handmade tin foil hats and giant alien balloons.

All-in-all it was a great event filled with out of this world excitement and won-hard I tried - the car just didn't want to talk! Maybe we will get that story next year at the 3rd Annual Wings & Wheels for Warriors event!

Frost Valley YMCA Announces Dates for 3D Archery Tournament

Frost Valley YMCA has announced this year's dates for its annual 3D

Archery Tournament. This year, the event will be on August 26, September 9 and September 30, from 9am-2pm.

Archery, whether for sport or hunting purposes, has many proven benefits in health and wellness. The deliberate mental focus it requires can help increase concentration, while the act of pulling a tense bowstring builds strength and coordination. As skills increase over time, so does confidence in one's self and abilities.

3D archery is a growing competitive sport that trades the usual flat, colored bulls-eye for a lifelike wildlife model as a target. During Frost Valley's event, archers move among scenes set up with targets shaped like bear, deer, turkey, and other game animals all along a wooded trail. Archers then receive a score based on where their arrows land. After some friendly competition, participants and their families can enjoy a barbe-cue picnic together (included in the entrance fee). The event will culminate as certificates are awarded to winners.

All ages and experience levels are welcome to enjoy this event. The tournament and barbecue take place at 2244 Frost Valley Road, just down the road from Frost Valley's Main Camp. The cost for the day is free for Outdoor Sporting Participants. For non-participants, adults are $20, and children are $8. To register, or for rates and information, please call 845-985-2291 ext. 397.

DEP-approved boat cleaning sites are identified below, along with vendors where you can rent pre-cleaned boats. Boat tags, allowing temporary (up to three days) and seasonal use of a specific reservoir, are required, and are issued at steam cleaning sites.

Reservoir boaters must also obtain Recreational Access Permits from the NYC Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). Permits can be obtained quickly and easily at most steam cleaning sites, boat rental vendors or online. Go to Recreation on DEP's website, www.nyc.gov/dep.

Much of New York City's watershed land is also open for fishing, hiking, and other types of outdoor recreation. This interactive map can help outdoor enthusiasts find City-owned properties and understand the types of recreation that are permitted in each area.

Campgrounds in the Catskill Parks Officially Opened May 19

"DEC campgrounds offer a unique opportunity to enjoy some of the most beautiful natural resources in New York State," said DEC Commissioner Seggos. "In addition to hiking and fishing, DEC campground facilities offer a wide range of outdoor recreational and camping opportunities and activities the whole family can enjoy.

Each year millions of people visit DEC facilities to enjoy the spectacular landscapes, lush forests, and fish and wildlife species that reside in the constitutionally protected "forever wild" campgrounds. Campers can also enjoy the many events, historical sites, and restaurants of nearby towns and villages.

DEC operates 52 campgrounds and six day-use areas in the Adirondack and Catskill Forest Preserves. The summer camping season runs through Labor Day, with some facilities remaining open during fall foliage and hunting season. Sites are available on a first-come, first-served basis and range from $18-$28 a night. For more information on DEC-operated campgrounds, including a list of campgrounds and their schedules, visit DEC's website and go to the Camping link under the Outdoors Recreation section, or call DEC's Bureau of Recreation at 518-457-2500. To make reservations at any of these camping facilities, call ReserveAmerica at 1-800-456-CAMP (2267) or visit ReserveAmerica's website (leaves

DEC website.)

DEC advises people not to transport firewood to campgrounds or parks in an effort to limit the spread of invasive insect species and improve forest health. People may not be aware they are moving the eggs or larvae of these pests, which may be hidden on or under the bark or buried deep within the logs. Once transported to new locations, eggs may hatch, or larvae may mature and emerge to attack host trees in and around the area. Campers are urged to leave firewood at home and use only firewood from local sources. If firewood has been transported, burn all of the transported wood before leaving the campsite.

For more information on firewood and invasive insect species, contact DEC's Division of Lands and Forests, Bureau of Private Lands at 518-402-9425 or visit DEC's website.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The following is my experiences as a resident of the Rehabilitation Unit of the Sullivan County Adult Care Center, 256 Sunset Lake Road, Liberty. On February 23 I was to undergo a pacemaker change at University Medical Center in Hackensack, NJ. During the procedure a lead broke and tore a hole in my heart muscle, necessitating emergency openheart surgery to repair the damage. I was discharged February 27 and immediately went to the Adult Care Center arriving

I was taken to my room, a large, light-filled space at the end of the corridor and across from the Nurses' Station. I was placed in my bed and vital information was elicited. Dinner was served and then out for the night. On Tuesday morning the work began in earnest with nurse consultations going over medicines and the start of Physical and Occupational Therapy. The Therapy sessions were quite demanding as I had just come from lying on my back for six days.

Occupational Therapy involved coordinating motor control of hands, arms and fingers. Exercises involved placing pegs in patterns, working with clothespins and the highlight of the sessions was brushing "Bugsy Siegel" one of two therapy rab-bits, whose purpose was to strengthen hand control and relax residents. The second rabbit, Blaze, centered on the relaxation made by entertaining residents with his endless antics chasing his beach ball. Physical Therapy concentrated on leg muscle activities and exercises on a stationary bicycle, leg lifts, stair climbing and walking. As my time at the Center passed, it was clear I was improving, and staff members closely monitored my activities and care.

My conclusion after nearly three weeks in the Rehab Section and the whole Center is ... fantastic! The excellence of the Réhab Department and the Center goes back to two things: Staff and Pride. The staff is knowledgeable, attentive and caring. These attributes were evident on all staff levels from Administration to Nursing, to Therapies, to assistance, to housekeeping and all other departments. It is that pride and dedication that results in such high standards for the entire facility, standards that should be emu-lated by similar facilities both public and private. The pride and dedication of all in this facility should be recognized by all, including county government and the public at large.

I have always been a supporter of the Center, although perhaps not as vocal as I should have been. I can give nothing but the highest praise to all involved in making the Sullivan County Adult Care Center a stellar example of Professionalism, Pride, Dedication and Excellence! Frank Burbank

DEP Announces Promotion of Four K-9 Officers -K-9 Officers Were Promoted to Detective Specialists During Ceremony in Kingston

During Ceremony in Kingston

The New York City Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) promoted four veteran K-9 officers during a ceremony at the Staff Sgt.
Robert H. Dietz DEP Police Academy in Kingston, N.Y. The officers, who combined have 64 years of experience with the DEP Police Division, were promoted to the rank of detective specialist.

"These detectives and their canine partners are part of a highly skilled, trained and dedicated police force that protects the nation's largest water supply every day," DEP Acting Commissioner Vincent

Combating Lyme and Tick-Borne Diseases in New York State

Dear Readers:

According to reports by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), New York State has the third highest number of confirmed cases of Lyme disease in the entire country.

While we remain one of the hardest-hit regions for Lyme and other tick-borne diseases, my colleagues and I in the Senate have been actively working to reverse this trend.

The Senate Task Force on Lyme Disease and Tick-Borne Diseases, which I am a member of, was established to help combat this serious public health issue, and this year alone, successfully secured $400,000 in the newly-adopted State Budget for research, education, and prevention efforts.

To build upon this, I recently supported a package of Senate-approved legislation that will be instrumental in implementing the Task Force's goals of improving prevention, diagnosis, and treatment to better protect the health of New Yorkers.

Specifically, the legislation will address the lack of insurance coverage available to those diagnosed with Lyme Disease (S2168); provide homeowners with Lyme Disease (S2168); provide homeowners with vital and reliable information on the best way to protect their property from ticks (S2588); and will help ensure medical professionals are properly trained to treat patients with Lyme or other tickborne diseases (S2621).

In addition, the Senate passed a resolution (J1493) that designates May 2017 as Lyme Disease Awareness Month in the State of New York. The resolution will help draw attention to this significant and complex disease, as well as provide information on and raise public awareness of its causes, effects, and treatments.

I will continue my efforts to make even more progress in addressing this critical public health issue and I will be sure to keep you posted.

Sincerely, John J. Bonacic State Senator

Sapienza said. "On behalf of the New Yorkers they serve, I want to extend my congratulations to these detectives and their families on the occasion of their well-deserved promotions."

The following officers were promoted to the rank of detective specialist:

Det. Kenneth J. Bauer was appointed to the DEP Police in September 1999. He began his career in the patrol division at the Ashokan Precinct. He joined the canine unit in July 2003. He and his canine partner, Killie, are currently assigned to the Beerston Precinct. Bauer attended SUNY Delhi and served in the U.S. Navy.

Det. Douglas DiSciullo was appointed to the DEP Police in August 2001. He began his career in the patrol division at the Neversink Precinct. He joined the canine unit in July 2003. He and his canine partner, Mycal, are currently assigned to the Ashokan Precinct. DiSciullo attended Johnston State College and earned a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Det. Kelly L. Kilpatrick was appointed to the DEP Police in October 2002. She began her career in the patrol division at the Ashokan Precinct. She joined the canine unit in September 2003. She and her canine partner Bingham are currently assigned to the Gilboa Precinct. Det. Kilpatrick is a New York State certified canine patrol, explosives detection and narcotics detection trainer and examiner. She attended Dutchess County Community College and Empire State College, earning a bachelor's degree in business management. (Contd. Pg. 15)

Storywalk® and Spring Fun Day at the Library

Starting Saturday, June 3rd, you can walk along Broadway in Monticello and enjoy a children's book along the way! The Ethelbert B. Crawford Public Library has created a StoryWalk® that can be enjoyed by the entire community. A Story Walk® is a fun, educational activity that places the pages from a children's book along a popular walking path. It combines reading with the benefits of walking outdoors with friends and family. StoryWalks,® created by the library and supported by many local businesses, are rotated seasonally.

The book for the spring/summer Story Walk® is Flower Garden, written by Eve Bunting and illustrated by Kathryn Hewitt. The book celebrates diversity, family, and springtime. Stop by the library, where the Storywalk® begins, to pick up a scavenger hunt sheet. While you read the story, write down the panel numbers where you find the scavenger hunt items. Bring it back to the library when you're finished to win a prize.

On June 3rd at 11am the Friends of the Library will host the unveiling of this new Story Walk.® After you walk and read the story, join us back at the library for a special event including crafts, planting flowers, refreshments, and a special event called "Chalk it Up"-weather permitting.

For more information on the StoryWalk® along

Broadway, please contact Cheryl the library: 845-794-4660 ext. 8. For a full list of library programs visit www.ebcrawfordlibrary.org, follow us on social media @ebcplibrary, or pick up a program calendar at the library. The StoryWalk® Project was created by Anne Ferguson of Montpelier, VT and developed in collaboration with the Vermont Bicycle & Pedestrian Coalition and the Kellogg-Hubbard Library. Flower Garden was published by Harcourt Inc. New York,

Call for Submissions - Craft Show and Fair

The Liberty Museum and Arts Center is seeking applications for its third craft exhibit. The Craft Artists Exhibit is scheduled to run from September 2, 2017 through October 14, 2017, culminating in a craft mart day, Saturday October 14th, when artisans will be invited to set up booths with additional items for sale. On the final Saturday, October 14th, artisans are invited to bring more items for sale in a mart- setting.
