UC Executive Mike Hein Announces the Opening of the New Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge in New Paltz

Reinventing Infrastructure In Ulster County - Ahead Of Schedule Safer

Passage, Improved Sustainability, Enhanced LED Lit Sidewalk, Greater Views
New Paltz, NY - Ulster County Executive Mike Hein was joined by Angela Liberta, Wife of the late Carmine Liberta, the County Executive's Bridge Advisory Committee, local officials, business owners, and members of the community to announce the opening of the new Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge which spans the Wallkill River at the end of Main Street in New Paltz. The previous metal grid work style bridge has been replaced with a "Pony Arch" bridge allowing for motorists, bikers and pedestrians to access the iconic view of the Shawangunk Mountains and the Mohonk Watchtower. The new bridge includes an enhanced sidewalk and wider shoulders on both sides of the bridge. It is designed to withstand the pressure of weather events and includes LED lights to light the bridge and handrails at night for safer travel. The County Executive consulted the community in designing the bridge, and the County Executive's Bridge Advisory Committee was formed to work closely with County Engineers. Before beginning construction on the new bridge a temporary bridge was installed in order to avoid disrupting traffic and negatively impacting local businesses, residents and visitors. The Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge was completed as part of County Executive Hein's "Building a Better Ulster County" initiative which includes an unprecedented $46 million investment in infrastructure over a 3 year period.

Michael P. Hein, Ulster County Executive

"The new Carmine Liberta Bridge is the 'People's Bridge' as it was designed by the people for the people," said County Executive Mike Hein. "This is true democracy at work and I appreciate all of the efforts of the Bridge Advisory Committee, local business owners, the community, as well as our amazing Department of Public Works." (Contd. UC Executive Mike Hein, The UC Economic Development Alliance and AT&T Collaborate to Sponsor 2nd Annual Conskills Conf - Catskills Conf Is An Annual Conference And Retreat Weekend For Makers, Technologists And Entrepreneurs To Celebrate Creative Innovation At The Ashokan Center In UC

Kingston, NY - On Monday, October 17th, Ulster County Executive Mike Hein, AT&T External Affairs Director Ed Bergstraesser, Catskills Conf Co-founder Kale Kaposhilin and Catskills Conf partner organization representatives met at the County Executive's office to kick off the 2nd Annual Catskills Conf.

The Catskills Conf runs from Friday, October 21 through Sunday, October 23 at The Ashokan Center in Olivebridge, NY. More than 100 creative designers, software engineers, students and entrepreneurs of all types are expected to attend, to share their work and to build community. The event is born of a shared belief amongst the founders that by holding an accessible and inclusive space for a multi-day interaction between creative, community-minded innovators, new and exciting collaborations will emerge and take root. Attendees will be facilitated in their work by locally made music, food and beverage both inside the conference hall and around the campfire.

True to its promise to be a mix of modern high-tech and timeless low-tech, Catskills Conf will feature music from locals Jay Ungar & Molly Mason and Mike & Ruthy, as well as activities such as foraging with Dina Falconi, botanical drawing with Wendy Hollander, cider fermentation with Patti Wilcox, cofounder of Gravity Ciders and blacksmithing. Locally made beer from Keegan Ales, cider from Awestruck, meats from Fleisher's Craft Butchery and chocolate from Fruition will all be served during the weekend.

"At Catskills Conf, technology entrepreneurs from NYC, throughout the region and around the world will get the opportunity to celebrate history, the environment and the arts, while simultaneously discussing technology, business innovation and collaboration," said County Executive Hein. "I want to thank the founders of Catskills Conf and AT&T for recognizing that the scenery and surroundings here are ideal for inspiring entrepreneurs and for creating a unique program that will allow them to grow together and learn. Ulster County is the perfect home for events like Catskills Conf and quite frankly, it is the perfect home for technology entrepreneurs all year round."

"Our presenters are doing really inspiring work in technology and community development," says Catskills Conf Co-founder Kale Kaposhilin. "Our attendees are diverse, they have a twinkle in their eye and they are ready to learn from each other. We're proud to be stewards of this shared experience and couldn't do it without the support from AT&T and Ulster County and their commitment to advancing local innovation in our region."

AT&T's ongoing support for Catskills Conf grows out of the company's commitment to foster local innovation by providing opportunities for entrepreneurs, technologists, makers and developers to create new technologies and act on ideas that could positively impact their communities and strengthen the Hudson Valley's innovation economy and ecosystem.

Words of Wisdom: Lately when I watch TV I am appalled to see so many commercials trying to sell things to make you look younger. So much is being spent on products to camouflage wrinkles (which I like to call the smile lines around your eyes or mouth), cover up dark spots or lift sagging parts. I believe people should be thankful for who they are and take some delight in the aging process.

Getting older is not such an awful thing and it sure beats the alternative. Perhaps, on occasion, my vision may be blurred, however, I think I see things better and more clearly than I did in previous years. Sure, every now and then, I may forget a name or a face, and sometimes even a date, but as we get older we learn to do the best we can with what we have. One thing for certain, now that I'm on the down-side of the hill, I'm not nearly so worried about what people think anymore. And, as Martha Stewart used to say, "maybe that's a good thing"!

Town of Neversink -

Flag Exchange Ceremony Friday, November 11th, 2016 - 11:00 am

Veteran's Day, 2016 in the Tri-Valley Area will be observed by the Flag Exchange Ceremony, which has become a tradition in the Town of Neversink. The Program will take place at 11:00 am on Friday, November 11th, at the flag pole located in the Grahamsville Rural Cemetery on Route 55 in Grahamsville.

The event will feature the retiring of the flag, which has flown for the past six months, in honor of Marine Veteran, William Lawrence Lamb, Jr. In exchange for the flag just retired, Scout Troop 97 will then accept a flag presented by the Knight Family, which will fly for six months, in honor of Civil War Veteran, Burgoyne Knight. Burgoyne Knight enlisted in the 120th Regiment Company E in Lackawack on August 14th, 1862. He was a Private in the infantry and following his discharge in 1864, returned to his home in Unionville, Grahamsville. He and his wife are both buried in the Grahamsville Rural Cemetery. Participating in the event will be Boy Scout Troops 97 and 87, and an Honor Guard of local veterans. The flag exchange is sponsored by the Grahamsville Rural Cemetery Association.

Jack Frost - The Personification of Season

Just at the break of dawn, with the moon so bright the hoar frost covering the fields looked like carpets of sparkling crystals this past Saturday morning. In a sense, you could say they were covered with crystals - ice crystals. Frost occurs when water vapor in the air condenses as ice on a surface that has a temperature below freezing.

At night, a blade of grass loses energy by emitting a non-lethal kind of radiation, but it absorbs energy emitted by surrounding objects. Under clear nighttime skies, objects near the ground emit more radiation than they receive from the sky, and so a blade of grass cools due to the net energy loss. Once a grass blade gets cold enough, frost will form on it. Overnight cooling of the air near the ground causes this morning frost on grass and often on your car windshields.

Hoar frost on grass

Hoar frost on a rose

If you get outside early in the morning, you may notice frost formed in open fields but not under trees. Trees emit more radiation toward the ground than the clear sky does. Thus, grass under a tree loses less energy than grass in an open field. Grass in an open field cools faster and reaches the frost point first.

The heaviest coatings of frost usually do not occur at the coldest temperatures because very cold air cannot hold very much water vapor. Instead, thick deposits of frost usually occur when the air temperature is close to 32 deg. F (0 deg. C).

The size of frost crystals varies depending on the time they have been building up and the amount of water vapor available. Frost crystals are translucent, but scatter light in many directions, so that a coating of frost appears white. There are many types of frost, such as Hoar frost, also known as radiation and window frost.

Hoar frost refers to the white ice crystals, loosely deposited on the ground or exposed objects, that form on cold clear nights when heat is lost into the open sky causing objects to become colder than the surrounding air. The name hoar comes from an Old English adjective for showing signs of old age, and is used in this context in reference to the frost which makes trees and bushes look like white hair. A related effect is flood frost or frost pocket which occurs when air cooled by ground-level radiation losses travels downhill to form pockets of very cold air in depressions, valleys, and hollows. Hoar frost can form in these areas even when the air temperature a few feet above ground is well above freezing. Nonetheless the frost itself will be at or below the freezing temperature of water.

Window frost forms when a glass pane is exposed to very cold air on the outside and moderately moist air on the inside. It forms a pattern on the glass that resembles fern. If the pane is not a good insulator (such as a single pane window), water vapor condenses on the glass forming patterns.

Window frost

There are many tales about frost - Jack Frost, a/k/a Old Man Winter, who nips at your nose and is the son of the Frost King. Jack Frost's roots are believed to have originated from Anglo-Saxon and Norse winter customs. Different cultures have their own traditions of frost deities. In Russian culture he takes a different form as Grandfather Frost and English folklore tradition holds that Jack Frost is an elfish creature who would come through each year and paint each blade of grass with small thin crystals of ice overnight. Humanity's fascination with weather has been ingrained in storytelling, religion and mythology for centuries. Jack Frost continues to be the symbol of the forthcoming chill of winter and the personification of the season.

Household Hints

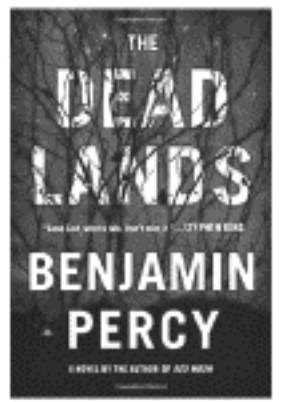

Keep car windows frost-free

If you park your car outdoors during the cold winter months, a smart and simple way to keep frost from forming on your windows is by wiping (or, better yet, spraying) the outsides of the windows with a solution of 3 parts white vinegar to 1 part water.

The Dead Lands

Mysterious Book Report No. 261
by John Dwaine McKenna

Ever had the flu? Not a run-of-the-mill cold with sniffles and sneezing, but the real deal, with chills, fever, congestion – the kind that makes every bone on your body ache and hurt so much you just can't get out of bed? The kind that can put you in the hospital if you're not careful. The kind that can kill a human, and sometimes does. It's an experience which anyone who's had doesn't want to repeat. But the flu virus is tricky. It mutates. It can cause a pandemic, which many scientists predict will eventually happen, given that every year brings with it a new and often more virulent strain with every random throw of the genetic dice.

The Dead Lands (Grand Central Publishing/Hachette Book Group, $26.00, 400 pages, ISBN 978-1-4555-2824-0) by Benjamin Percy, postulates a future in which 150 years have elapsed since a fatal strain of airborne flu has decimated the human race, causing the collapse of civilization. Tens of hundreds of millions have died, and solar radiation coupled with radioactive fallout from unattended nuclear power plants has caused most of the surviving mammals, fish, fowls, and reptiles to have an infinite variety of nasty mutations. In the city of St. Louis, Missouri, survivors of the initial flu outbreak walled off the downtown area, renamed it Sanctuary and rejected all outside contact. After 150 years however, the situation has changed. Radically. They think they're the last human beings on earth, and the residents are slowly starving. They're down to eating rats and insects, and dying of dehydration due to a multiple-year drought and skimpy water rations. At the same time, the beleaguered residents are being held as virtual prisoners by a dictatorial governor whose sadistic sheriff and his team of well-cared for deputies enforce his decisions. No one is allowed to leave Sanctuary. What had been walls to prevent outsiders from coming in, were now being used to keep insiders from getting out. Conditions are so dire that open rebellion is a possibility. Folks are unhappy, hungry and getting more desperate by the day when a rider on horseback comes in from the west. A girl. She's a mutant, with eyes that are all pupil and some hidden talents she keeps to herself. She tells wild tales of fertile land, with food and rainfall in abundance far to the west of them. She's thrown in jail, her information suppressed by the authorities and disclaimed as lies. But an idea, once loosed, fires the imagination and can't ever be contained again. A small band of renegades, led by a woman named Clark, and a reclusive scholar named Lewis Meriwether break the stranger out of her cell and the tiny band escapes from Sanctuary. They head west, in an epic recreation of the expedition of 1804, but this time it's through the dead lands, as everything outside the walls is known. Flesh-eating monsters, tyrants, sadists, nuclear wastelands, environmental catastrophes, heroes and heroines, love affairs, an epic trek into a vast unknown uncharted territory, and an examination of the undying human desire to be free all make The Dead Lands, a novel that's large in scope and unforgettable in nature. It's appeal won't diminish over time in my opinion, because the elements are timeless and universal. That makes it a novel all fantasy lovers won't want to miss!

Maternal Child Health (MCH) nurses at Sullivan County Public Health Services (SCPHS) perform skilled nursing visits to pregnant, postpartum and pediatric patients throughout Sullivan County. Anne Mikulski RN, Supervising Community Health Nurse (SCHN) supervises a team of two full time MCH nurses, Janna Worden RN and Martha Wilcox, Community Health Nurse (CHN). Janna and Martha see complex MCH cases, participate in designing orientation training and in-services, and perform developmental screenings for the Early Care program and visits for the Lead Poisoning Prevention Program. MCH nurses also work with New York State's Newborn Screening Program. Sullivan County has a high rate of premature and caesarian deliveries. In 2015, the MCH program performed over 1000 skilled nursing visits to MCH patients. The MCH nursing team makes a valuable contribution to improving Public Health in this rural county by providing high risk women and children with critically important home based nursing services.

A STORY THAT HAS IT ALL...
A CRIME YOU CAN'T FORGIVE
A PLOT YOU COULDN'T IMAGINE
YOU'LL NEVER FORGET.

There's no sanitary way to write about murder. In "Whim-Wham Man," John Dwaine McKenna takes it to an anguished, personal level in his gut-punching novel of a teen-aged boy whose idyllic life in a rural community comes crashing down when reality and adulthood rush in after a brutal crime. It's a helluva yarn.

Public Health Works!

Surveys have found that while citizens know public health is important to them, they aren't always exactly sure what it is or how it has touched their lives.

The Public Health Works! Campaign raises awareness of the essential services that public health workers and the public health system provide to the residents of New York State.

At the heart of all successful public health initiatives are the workers who promote and protect the public's health and safety. In addition to addressing everyday public health needs, the public health workers face a number of emerging and complex health issues such as the increase in obesity, managing vaccine supplies, disparities in health outcomes, and emergency preparedness. Compounding these issues, workers also face workforce challenges, including large numbers of employees who are retiring, shortages of key professionals, and the need for ongoing training and education to ensure that professionals can effectively address all of the emerging public health issues.

In the face of these challenges, local health department professionals work every day to ensure the safety and health of our communities. The Public Health Works! Campaign recognizes the important and crucial work performed by these professionals and raises awareness among the general public of the importance of public health.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

The Election

At the writing of this column there is but a twenty-four days to election day. However, it feels as if the campaign has been going on for decades with candidates making the news each day with "He said; she said" with no one saying much of anything. Perhaps it is because there is so much mud slinging and name-calling that the issues have not been heard in a clear message.

The "Thumper's Mother" rule should apply to elections--all of them. Remember, "Thumper's mother said, 'If you don't have anything nice to say, don't say anything at all.'" Negatives just mask the positives, and, heaven help us, we want to be able to notice what is good about each candidate so we can weigh qualities, not buckets of slime and muck.

Also, there should be a reasonable deadline to the campaign. I am thinking that three months is about the human tolerance for rallies and ads.

There also should be a Pinocchio rule. If a lie or incorrect fact is told, there should be a buzzer or gong that goes off with a neutral moderator, if there is such a thing, instantly correcting the issue.

Lastly, campaigns have to be conducted with equal financial funds. It shouldn't be bought by lobbyists or skewed by big business. I am thinking a million dollars coming from the IRS each should be the limit. That is about 33 cents out of each of our pockets. Each candidate can creatively decide how to use their funds and MUST use all of it. No war chest to be carried home like the spoils of victory or defeat. Think of all the good that can be done with the millions of donations and fundraisers spent on this odious campaign. There would be no deficit to play the "point-fingers game."

My fear is that many will not vote, and that is a darn shame. One of the issues of world freedom and democracy, another political foot-ball, is the guarantee of the right to vote. So vote, you lucky American. Your vote is your voice.

CWC Funds Stormwater Control Projects

The Catskill Watershed Corp. (CWC) Board of Directors on October 4 authorized reimbursement for stormwater design and implementation costs necessitated by a number of construction projects in the New York City Watershed west of the Hudson River.

Approximately $6,400 will be reimbursed for stormwater designs for two community projects. The H. D. Lane Volunteer Fire Company in Lanesville, Town of Hunter has built an addition to the fire hall, and the Town of Lexington is to build a pavilion at a new town park.

Additional costs were also approved for these previously funded stormwater projects: Windham homeowner Chris Barber (total $40,085); DRNC Realty (Delaware Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Delhi, total $324,820); 3115 Route 28 LLC (total $29,500 for an addition and parking lot at this Shokan, Town of Olive business. Owner Walter Grabowski is eligible to apply directly to NYC DEP for an equal amount.)

Board approval was also given to spend $17,800 to have the CWC parking lot and handicap access ramp repaved by Evergreen Construction. This project required a Stormwater Pollution Prevention Plan for the ramp, which was prepared by Lamont Engineers at a cost of $5,328.

The CWC is a non-profit, Local Development Corporation responsible for several environmental protection, economic development and education programs in the New York City Watershed West of the Hudson River. www.cwconline.org

DEC Ask that Anglers Do Not Fish the Esopus Creek from the Portal Down to the Ashokan Reservoir

NYS DEC has requested that the City drastically reduce the flow from the Shandaken Tunnel to the Esopus Creek. NYS DEC and NYC DEP have posted pictures and additional information about this on our Facebook pages at: <https://www.facebook.com/NYSDEC/> and <https://www.facebook.com/nycwatershed>

Anglers: Please don't fish the Esopus Creek from the Shandaken Portal down to the Ashokan Reservoir right now.

If you live near, or fish the upper reach of the Esopus Creek, you probably have noticed that the water level has dropped and the creek has become brown with suspended sediment.

Normally, water from the Schoharie Reservoir enters the Esopus via the Shandaken Portal, supplementing the natural flow of the creek and helping to maintain its trout population.

Unfortunately, drought has reduced water levels in the Schoharie Reservoir and the portal has been bringing highly turbid (sediment laden) water into the Esopus. DEC Fisheries staff are concerned that this turbid water will hurt the stream ecosystem and trout spawning, which begins soon. In response, we have reduced the amount of water from the Schoharie Reservoir to the Esopus.

Water levels in the Esopus will drop further, drastically reducing aquatic habitat. Fish in the Esopus Creek could be very vulnerable to anglers and natural predators. Nonetheless, DEC Fisheries staff believe the trout population will be better off than if the trout try to spawn in mud-laden water.

DEC will continue to monitor the flow, water turbidity, and the stream ecosystem. We ask that anglers do not fish the Esopus Creek from the portal down to the Ashokan Reservoir during these stressful conditions.

Emergency regulations will soon temporarily prohibit fishing downstream of the portal. We'll let you know when this happens.

The Weight of the County

County Weights & Measures: Small Department, Huge Responsibilities

"A department consisting of two people has an inspection and enforcement responsibility that impacts the daily lives of all of us and protects consumers at every level of purchase," says Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach. "It is because of their diligence, that devices used to sell commodities on the basis of weight, volume or sizes, ranging from super-market scales to gas pumps, are accurate," the Comptroller continued.

A recent audit of the Ulster County Bureau of Weights and Measures identifies the responsibilities of enforcing New York State Agriculture and Markets Law as well as the "consumer pricing" law of Ulster County.

The audit reviewed:

- *Inspection and testing of weighing and measuring devices,
- *Response to consumer complaints and
- *Internal controls over financial operations

The audit can be found on the Comptroller's website at www.YourEyesOnUlster.com or at the link <http://ulstercountyny.gov/comptroller/sites/default/files/Weights%20%26%20Measures%20Audit%2009.30.2016.pdf>

Seward Announces Funding for Phoenicia Library $10,000 state grant will support new "Bridging the Digital Gap" tech initiative

State Senator James L. Seward announced a special state grant of $10,000 to support the Phoenicia Library's "Bridging the Digital Gap" program.

"Our libraries are community hubs, hosting countless activities that enrich lives young and old," said Senator Seward. "The Phoenicia Library is an educational and technological leader that so many in the region look to for essential information and assistance. The new "Bridging the Digital Gap" initiative will teach much-needed skills and improve the quality of life for area residents."

Phoenicia Library Director Elizabeth Potter said, "Senator Seward has had the vision all along to see funding for libraries is crucial and to get substantial funding for libraries including Phoenicia Library. He's seen the multiplier effect of money invested in libraries. He understands the important role a library plays in a small community and has consistently gone to bat for libraries and other community institutions. This grant will help expand our offerings and targets a demonstrated community need."

The grant funds provided by Senator Seward are earmarked for a new initiative to improve computer and technology skills community-wide. The program, known as "Bridging the Digital Gap", will include drop-in help and instructional courses for people of all ages and abilities, assistance with computer upgrades and fixes, and robotics and coding for ages 9-16.

Senator Seward has assisted the Phoenicia Library with previous grants including $20,000 to help fund the reconstruction and expansion of the library after a fire gutted the building in 2011.

"Libraries touch the lives of so many individuals and it is vital that we maintain and enhance these enduring connections to our past which also open a gateway to our future. The Phoenicia Library continues to evolve and find new ways to answer community needs. This is a wise investment in our future, and I am pleased to help get this important technology initiative up and running," Seward concluded.

Photographer Mark Loete Celebrates Catskill Fly Tying

Catskill Fly Tying, the Art of Artifice" an exhibit of the work of photographer Mark Loete, will be shown in the Wulff Gallery of the Catskill Fly Fishing Center and Museum (CFFCM) from October 17 to November 30.

The show opens with a reception on Saturday, October 22 from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m.

The exhibition features over 40 photographs of exquisitely crafted trout fishing flies, celebrating the centuries-old fly tying tradition and the master artisans who fabricate these jewel-like imitation insects. These color photographs depict Catskill-style fishing flies magnified up to 12 times.

The artificial lure, or "fly," is an artifice - a clever deception. It is the tenuous connection between angler and that elusive, watery creature - the trout. Fur, feather and sometimes artificial materials are lashed to steel with thread so as to mimic the size, shape, color and natural behavior of the aquatic insects that trout depend on for food.

Certain furs and feathers behave differently when cast upon the water. Some remain stiff and high-floating. Others become slinky and sinuous when soaked. The selection, manner and method in which these materials are deployed on the hook - the fly "pattern" - draws upon a deep body of generational wisdom, regional diversity and folk art. Some patterns are deceptively simple to tie and fish. Others are complex architectural constructs built to exacting specifications.

When these beautiful miniature sculptures are photographed at high resolution and enlarged to poster size, the art behind the artifice is revealed. The fishing flies in Loete's photographic series were created for the Jerry Bartlett Angling Collection at the Phoenicia Library in Phoenicia, NY. For more information about the photographs go to www.artfromartifice.com

The gallery and museum are open from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily in October, and Tuesday through Saturday in November.

CFFCM is dedicated to preserving the heritage of fly fishing, while enhancing the present experience and protecting its future. The center maintains a museum, gallery and workshops on its 53 acre property on the banks of Willowemoc Creek, the birthplace of American dry fly fishing. Located between Livingston Manor and Roscoe, facilities also include a gift shop, library, picnic area, nature trails and pond.

For information about programs, call 845-439-4810 or visit www.cffcm.com.

The star attraction on the main stage in T.R. Gallo Park at the festival was Steven Maglio, who sang a number of Frank Sinatra songs. Maglio was accompanied by the Michael Dell Orchestra, a 12-piece big band.

The foundation is a not-for-profit organization whose mission is to promote, preserve and celebrate Italian heritage and culture in Ulster County and beyond. Admission to this annual event was free.

Leaders from Around the World Attend YMCA
"Camps for Global Good"

The International Camp Directors Conference, co-organized by YMCA of the USA and a Steering Committee composed of YMCA camp directors from across the country, was held at Frost Valley YMCA, October 10-13, 2016. The theme of the conference was "Camps for Global Good."

The conference brought together over 100 attendees including CEOs and Executive Directors from 27 countries as far as China, Armenia, Peru, India and France, to develop, strengthen and expand global camp exchanges and Y-to-Y partnerships, strengthen international YMCA camp leadership, programs and sustainability strategies, and increase philanthropic support for YMCA camps in the U.S. and around the world.

Participants engaged in panel presentations, workshops and networking opportunities. In addition, traditional camp activities, such as teambuilding and hiking, were offered to experience camp and enjoy nature. As a result of the conference, participating camps created new partnerships and exchange programs, and gathered new ideas to strengthen camps, advance global education, and foster inclusion through camps.

Charles Fahlsing, Director of Camping Services of YMCA Camp Al-Gon-Quian at YMCA Camp Birkett in Ann Arbor, MI explained, "It was an incredible experience to meet and exchange with many YMCA colleagues from the USA and abroad. This experience leaves me motivated to engage in these efforts and be a more active agent of change in our world."

The conference featured a live and silent auction of items donated by participants to benefit the construction of the first resident camp in the country of Kosovo. This is particularly important, as over 60% of the population in Kosovo is under 35 years old. Therefore, they have a great need for youth development. As a result of the enthusiasm and generosity of the group, nearly $17,000 dollars was raised toward this cause.

"I feel so inspired and motivated as I leave the conference. The highlight was the fundraiser for Camp Moronica, the first camp in Kosovo. This conference pushed that project forward, and because of it, hundreds of thousands of children in Kosovo will benefit", said Dorina Lluka, CEO of YMCA Kosovo.

After the conference, international participants organized in small groups visited 17 YMCA camps with the purpose of learning more about camp management and programs, and to foster relationships. Delta Air Lines, IENA (3 Adventures) and CCUSA joined Frost Valley YMCA by generously providing sponsorship support to the conference.

Special Art Announcement

A local artist of exceptional talent, Melinda Wallach, is showing many of her truly extraordinary works at the Catskill Art Society in Livingston Manor.

Melinda drew large crowds to the Old Stone House here in Hasbrouck, for her exhibitions in both 2014 and 2015. Her new show at CAS is "Walls of Viet Nam," works emerging from her travels in Southeast Asia and her amazement at the vast accumulation of paint, graffiti, stickers, paper, mold, and lichen on the surfaces of walls she encountered. The walls struck her as art pieces themselves. She used her camera to create unique compositions, and these photographs then inspired a series of paintings with found objects. The rich mixture of native Vietnamese, Chinese, French, and tribal ethnic cultures inform the art.

She is joined in the exhibition space by Tal Gluck's "Design Poetics" collection, linking together fine art and craft, and producing finished pieces that can be viewed as odd furniture, or ritual artifacts...or something else entirely.

The nice weather over the weekend made it a perfect autumn day for a drive through the colorful countryside...with an afternoon visit to CAS. For more details, visit <http://www.catskillartsociety.org/exhibits/>.

Shandeele Outreach Program Entertains and Educates the Community

SULLIVAN COUNTY - In addition to the world-class music at their Sunset Concert Series, and their new P.L.A.Y. the Classics collaboration with Bethel Woods Center for the Arts, the Shandeele Music Festival (SMF) also presents an Outreach Program each summer.

The 2016 Outreach Program, performed on Monday, August 22, featured concerts at both the Catskill Regional Medical Center and the Sullivan County Adult Care Center. Shandeele Music Festival Alumna Brianna Tang performed two solo piano concerts featuring the music of Bach, Beethoven, Scriabin, Paganini, Kabalevsky and Liszt.

Seventeen-year-old Ms. Tang originally performed at Shandeele as part of the International Young Artist series in 2012. She has performed at Carnegie Hall, Alice Tully Hall, Steinway Hall, Rider University, Auditorium San Nicolo in Venice and the Auditorium San Domenico in Narni, Italy. She was a top prizewinner at Festival Musica in Laguna's International Piano Competition, the Greater Princeton Steinway Society Piano Scholarship Competition, NY Music Competitions and several others.

Since the age of six, Ms. Tang has been studying under the tutelage of Yelena Ivanov. In addition to her many musical awards and scholarships, Tang is an honor student and a member of both the National Honor Society and the French Honor Society.

Under the direction of Youth and Outreach Program Director John Bernstein, the SMF's Community Outreach is a very important part of the Shandeele Music Festival's philosophies and goals, taking young artists to various venues where they play for, and discuss music with, individuals who may not otherwise have the opportunity to experience a live classical concert. The Festival believes that part of an artist's growth must include developing a sense of community and sharing with others.

And Bernstein can attest to the community's enjoyment of the program. "It's always fantastic to see the power music has to enhance our world," he said. "Throughout each performance, the room was filled with looks of happiness, excitement, and pure joy from each audience member as they followed every note Brianna performed. It was truly amazing to not only hear such a spectacular performance of difficult repertoire, but to watch it brighten the day of everyone in the room."

For more information about the SMF's Outreach Program, P.L.A.Y. the Classics or the Sunset Pavilion Concerts, visit www.Shandeele.org

Shakespeare's Will performance, Lecture and Elizabethan Supper at NACL Theatre

On Saturday, October 22nd, NACL Theatre presents Shakespeare's Will by Vern Thiessen. The evening opens with an authentic Elizabethan supper of mutton stew and a lecture about the lives of 17th century women. Based on the little known facts known about Shakespeare and his life, the performance imagines the life of his wife, Anne Hathaway and is performed with skill and transformative prowess by NACL actress and co-artistic director Tannis Kowalchuk. In celebration of the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's death, the upcoming presentation of Shakespeare's Will will include an authentic Elizabethan meal and a lecture by Shakespeare scholar, Joanne Zipay, co-founder of Judith Shakespeare Company.

The evening will begin at 6:00 PM with a lecture and supper of mutton stew based on a 1672 recipe. Shakespeare expert, Joanne Zipay will deliver a lecture that focuses on the history, culture, and the position of women in the 17th century England providing audience members with an excellent and fascinating historical context from which to enjoy the performance. Ms. Zipay is founder of Judith Shakespeare, an all-female Shakespeare Theatre Company (New York City) and has worked with the premiere Shakespearean theatres and artists today.

The play begins on the afternoon of Shakespeare's funeral. Anne knows she must read her husband's will but before she does, the widow relives her life as mother, wife, and woman in 17th century Stratford-Upon-Avon. Based upon the little information known about the Bard's wife, Canadian award-winning playwright, Vern Thiessen has written a sensitive and humorous text in verse, taking great delight imagining and inventing the robust, earthy, and intelligent character of Anne Hathaway. Kowalchuk moves seamlessly from one character to the next in fast-paced performance that packs 50 years into one hour.

The NACL production of Shakespeare's Will has toured to Pontine Theatre in New Hampshire, Spring Island South Carolina, The Scranton Fringe Festival, The Cooperage, SUNY Orange and Sullivan, The Tusten Theatre, and will play at Willamette University in Salem, Oregon and at the Warwick Library in New York.

Reviews

"Tannis Kowalchuk stars, breathing rich, layered life into the character, who is funny, wise and burdened, as she regales the audience with her experience being married to the world's most famous playwright. Mimi McGurl's direction was flawless, and music and sound designer Kurt Knuth's contribution more than noteworthy. The entire production was enhanced with a great use of the space, props, costumes and lighting (provided by the multitalented Zoof) and Kowalchuk's performance a tour de force, causing me to believe every word she spoke, whether it was true... or not."-- Jonathan Fox, River Reporter

The performance will take place Saturday, October 22 at NACL Theatre located at 110 Highland Lake Rd., Highland Lake, NY 12743. Tickets are $25 and can be purchased at www.NACL.org Dinner at 6:00 PM, 6:30 Lecture, 7:30 Performance.

The event is acknowledged annually on the fourth Saturday in October, with the goal of uniting people to make a difference in public spaces while improving the lives of others.

For more than 20 years, the Points of Light Foundation and sponsoring organizations have joined together to promote Make a Difference Day. Thousands of projects are planned each year involving volunteer groups, communities, nonprofit organizations, and individuals. Any contribution of time is appreciated and no gardening experience is necessary. All are welcome. Tools and gloves will be provided. In addition to helping with gardening and beautification activities, individuals can also volunteer to provide refreshments or take photographs.

Hein continued, "I also want to thank the entire Legislature and its leadership for its partnership in ensuring funding for the best possible project. In addition to an expanded LED lit sidewalk, wider shoulders, improved sustainability, enhanced views of the beautiful mountains, and greater connection to local trail systems, this Bridge is simply stronger and better prepared to handle future traffic needs and major weather events. We plan to complete an 'Overlook' area near the bridge in the next 45 days so residents and visitors alike can enjoy the iconic views of the Shawangunk Mountains and the Mohonk Watchtower. We are creating a vibrant waterfront in the heart of New Paltz thanks to the partnerships with local businesses, the Town of New Paltz, Village of New Paltz and the community.

Additionally, there are now 3-4 foot shoulders all the way to Butterville Road, as well as a planned direct link from the west side of the bridge to the Mohonk Preserve and Open Space Institute River-to-Ridge Trail. I am pleased that the Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge will continue to honor this local decorated Korean War Veteran, Carmine Liberta, and I hope this entire new process can serve as a model in the future."

Angela Liberta, Wife of Decorated Korean War Veteran Carmine Liberta

"I want to thank County Executive and the Department of Public Works for all of their hard work on this wonderful new bridge," said Angela Liberta. "It is a fitting tribute to Carmine and will ensure his legacy will continue for many years to come.

James Delaune, Ulster County Legislator

"I'm quite pleased that the newly-constructed bridge provides ample room for multiple bikers, walkers and runners to safely cross the Wallkill River and provides a much better view of the Shawangunk Ridge, said Ulster County Legislator James Delaune. "I have to give credit to County Executive Hein and his team for completing this very complex project ahead of schedule and with minimal disruption to the residents of New Paltz."

Hector Rodriguez, Ulster County Legislator

"This is a great example of how local government can partner with the community," said Hector Rodriguez, Minority Leader and Ulster County Legislator. "County Executive Hein realized the importance of limiting the amount of disruption to the residents and business owners of New Paltz during the construction of the bridge. It is a great addition to New Paltz and the bridge seamlessly blends into the beautiful landscape and highlights the scenic views of the Shawangunk Mountains."

Tim Rogers, Mayor, Village of New Paltz

"I am so pleased with the outcome of the new Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge," said Tim Rogers, Mayor of the Village of New Paltz. "I really appreciate County Executive Hein asking the community for their input on its design. Now, each time we cross the bridge we can be proud of the work we did as a community to make this such an integral part of our infrastructure."

Neil Bettez, Town of New Paltz Supervisor

"County Executive Hein's infrastructure investment in upgrading the Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge and increasing pedestrian and bicyclist safety with wider sidewalks and shoulders is commendable," said Neil Bettez, Town of New Paltz Supervisor. "This was truly a collaborative effort with the community which accomplished a bridge design that will benefit our residents as well as visitors to the area for many years to come. I am glad we were able to participate in the County's infrastructure improvement."

Susan Plonski, Commissioner, Department of Public Works

Under County Executive Hein's "Building a Better Ulster County" initiative and his unprecedented investment in infrastructure, we were able to collaborate with the community to design a modern bridge for the Town and Village of New Paltz. The new Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge includes an enhanced LED lit sidewalk and wider shoulders, taking into account the safety of bicyclists and pedestrians. This bridge was constructed to withstand potential weather-related events while opening up the view of the surrounding scenery. I would like to thank the men and women in the Department of Public Works who worked so hard to complete this project in a timely manner.

Kathy Prizzia, New Paltz Chamber Executive Director

"We are thrilled to see the new Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge open ahead of schedule," said Kathy Prizzia, Executive Director of the

New Paltz Chamber of Commerce. "This bridge is a vital connection for the businesses in New Paltz as well as the thousands of tourists that visit our area. I want to thank County Executive Hein for ensuring that the entire process has gone smoothly and quickly, with minimal impact to our businesses and our community."

Rich Gottlieb, owner of Rock & Snow

"The County Executive continues to be the knight in shining armor for New Paltz," said Rich Gottlieb, owner of Rock & Snow. "This attractive and greatly improved new bridge will go a long way toward helping the community of New Paltz offer the best, friendliest, and most livable community in the Hudson Valley."

Melanie Cronin, owner of Cronin Contemporary/Member of Ulster County Tourism Advisory Board

"As a business owner at the Water Street Market, I totally appreciate how well coordinated the entire bridge project was, so that it did not affect our business at all," said Melanie Cronin, owner of Cronin Contemporary and a member of the Ulster County Tourism Advisory Board. She continued, "As a community member who commutes across the bridge at least twice a day, I love the open air design of the new bridge and I really look forward to enjoying the unobstructed view of the ridge from now on."

The Carmine Liberta Memorial Bridge was named in 2008 for Carmine Liberta, a New Paltz Native, a decorated Korean War Veteran, and Veterans affairs activist. The new "Pony Arch" bridge features rustic weathered steel allowing it to blend into its surroundings. It now includes an enhanced LED lit sidewalk and wider shoulders for safer passage by pedestrians and bicyclists. Through the "Building A Better Ulster County" initiative, the county has spent over $30 million this year and last year to overhaul its infrastructure and has committed another $15 million in the proposed 2017 Executive Budget.

Record Number Of New Yorkers Register To Vote Online By October 14 Deadline To Participate In Upcoming Presidential Election

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today announced from October 1 to October 14, the Department of Motor Vehicles automated online system processed 214,356 online voter registration applications, including 122,147 from first-time voters. The number of applications received during those two weeks shattered the previous one month record of 140,602 applications, including 78,432 from first time voters in September. Two single day records were also set in October, with 59,018 applications processed on Thursday, October 13 and 67,782 processed on Friday, October 14.

"Our online voter registration system has broken down barriers and enabled hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers to participate in the electoral process," Governor Cuomo said. "These new records demonstrate the ease and success of this system and I am proud these New Yorkers are ensuring their voices are heard."

Since Governor Cuomo launched the online application system in 2012, the DMV website has processed 822,014 online voter registration applications, including 383,118 from first time voters.

DMV Executive Deputy Commissioner Terri Egan said, "Since day one, Governor Cuomo has made it a priority for New Yorkers to access their government more efficiently. DMV's online voter registration system is a perfect example of how effectively these strategies are working. With unprecedented activity on our website leading up to the October 14 deadline, hundreds of thousands of new voters will now have an opportunity to vote in this year's presidential election."

The DMV recently updated its website to allow New Yorkers to register to vote without signing up for a MyDMV account. Applicants must enter information from their New York State driver license, permit, or non-driver ID, their date of birth, current zip code, last four digits of their Social Security Number, and email address. The information provided is validated to ensure accuracy and security.

The upcoming presidential election is on Tuesday, November 8. DMV does not approve or deny voter registration applications. Upon completion, DMV sends the voter registration applications to the appropriate County Board of Elections for review and action. Once processed, the county will notify the applicants that they are registered to vote, or that additional information is needed to complete the application. New Yorkers can also visit the New York State Board of Elections to check their voter registration status.

The Weight of the County Weights & Measures; Small Department, Huge Responsibilities

Kingston, NY - "A department consisting of two people has an inspection and enforcement responsibility that impacts the daily lives of all of us and protects consumers at every level of purchase," says Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach. "It is because of their diligence, that devices used to sell commodities on the basis of weight, volume or sizes, ranging from supermarket scales to gas pumps, are accurate," the Comptroller continued.

A recent audit of the Ulster County Bureau of Weights and Measures identifies the responsibilities of enforcing New York State Agriculture and Markets Law as well as the "consumer pricing" law of Ulster County.

The audit reviewed:

- Inspection and testing of weighing and measuring devices,
- Response to consumer complaints and
- Internal controls over financial operations

The audit can be found on the Comptroller's website at www.YourEyesOnUlster.com or at the link <http://ulstercountyny.gov/comptroller/sites/default/files/Weights%20%26%20Measures%20Audit%2009.30.2016.pdf>

New York Power Authority Contract Supports Governor's ChargeNY Program for 3,000 Charging Stations Online by 2018 - Complements Governor's Reforming the Energy Vision Strategy to Lead on Climate Change and Grow New York's Economy

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today announced a contract for the installation of 300 electric vehicle charging stations at public locations across New York. The New York Power Authority Board of Trustees accord supports the Governor's ChargeNY program's goal of 3,000 charging stations online in the state by 2018 and helps New York achieve its goal for a 40 percent reduction in greenhouse gas emissions by 2030.

"New York is a national leader in promoting green technology and developing the clean energy economy, and these new charging stations will support the growing increase in electric vehicle use across the state," Governor Cuomo said. "With our unyielding commitment to cleaner, greener, and more efficient energy solutions, we are building a stronger New York for all."

ChargeNY is a core initiative of the Governor's Reforming the Energy Vision strategy to build a cleaner, more efficient and resilient energy system for all New Yorkers. In addition, reducing emissions from the transportation sector is critical to achieving Governor Cuomo's goal of reducing New York State's greenhouse gas emissions 40 percent by 2030 from 1990 levels and ensuring 50 percent of electricity consumed comes from renewable energy sources by 2030.

Letter to the Editor:

Two Untrustworthy Candidates

We know that many politicians make promises they cannot keep and they typically use manipulative and ambiguous language to hide their true ideas and feelings. They hope the public will forget their false statements.

However, Trump and Clinton might have the record for the most lies conveyed to the public during the campaign for President.

James Green in a letter in the Londonderry NH Times referenced the fact checking website politifact and exposed the false statements by the Presidential candidates. Approximately 29% of Clinton's statements were either mostly false, false or pants on fire. Trump fared even worse. Approximately 71% of his statements were either mostly false, false or pants on fire.

Trump cannot be trusted when he said he will bring jobs back to America. He has outsourced jobs to China, Hong Kong, Vietnam, Indonesia, Bangladesh and Mexico. He employs many foreign workers.

Unfortunately, Johnson, the Libertarian candidate for President, has made two significant gaffes in recent interviews, and he appears to lack knowledge of world affairs.

We can't trust Clinton or Trump to tell the truth. I am writing in myself for President.

CWC sponsors planning workshops
November 4

The Catskill Watershed Corporation will sponsor a free training day for planners and local officials Friday, Nov. 4 from 10 to 3 at American Legion Post #216, 903 Main St., Margaretville.

Three workshops, delivered by trainers from the NYS Department of State, will address a variety of topics many Catskill Region municipalities have grappled with in recent months, from solar farms and short-term rentals to barn weddings and vacant institutional buildings.

To register for the training, which includes lunch, go to cwconline.org, Meetings/Special Events. These workshops may satisfy the four-hour annual training mandate for members of planning boards and zoning boards of appeal, with approval of the municipality.

Workshops include "Hot Button Issues," "Solar Energy Regulation" and "Adaptive Reuses for White Elephants."

Some land uses have statutory protection or require special consideration, such as religious uses, mining, and telecommunications facilities. Other uses might be new to the local officials attempting to regulate them, such as solar energy facilities, barn weddings, and short-term rentals. "Hot Button Issues" is an overview of some of the land uses that many local officials find challenging, along with the statutory rules and case law associated with them and options for regulating them.

The authority of local governments to regulate photovoltaic solar energy systems-from modest residential and agricultural systems to large-scale institutional and commercial solar arrays and sun farms - is the focus of "Solar Energy Regulation." Environmental and economic benefits and aesthetic challenges are discussed, and tools such as the New York State Unified Solar Permit are provided to allow solar arrays and regulate their impacts.

What's to be done with those vacant or underused architectural gems like churches, armories, and depots? This course examines the socio-economic reasons for their vacancies, and land use tools that can help restore their rightful places as revitalizing neighborhood anchors. The "White Elephant" workshop will show creative examples of adaptive re-uses.

For more information on the CWC and its programs, visit www.cwconline.org, or call 845-586-1400.

Shandelee Outreach Program Entertains and Educates the Community

SULLIVAN COUNTY - In addition to the world-class music at their Sunset Concert Series, and their new P.L.A.Y. the Classics collaboration with Bethel Woods Center for the Arts, the Shandelee Music Festival (SMF) also presents an Outreach Program each summer.

The 2016 Outreach Program, performed on Monday, August 22, featured concerts at both the Catskill Regional Medical Center and the Sullivan County Adult Care Center. Shandelee Music Festival Alumna Brianna Tang performed two solo piano concerts featuring the music of Bach, Beethoven, Scriabin, Paganini, Kabalevsky and Liszt.

Seventeen-year-old Ms. Tang originally performed at Shandelee as part of the International Young Artist series in 2012. She has performed at Carnegie Hall, Alice Tully Hall, Steinway Hall, Rider University, Auditorium San Nicolo in Venice and the Auditorium San Domenico in Narni, Italy. She was a top prizewinner at Festival Musica in Laguna's International Piano Competition, the Greater Princeton Steinway Society Piano Scholarship Competition, NY Music Competitions and several others.

Since the age of six, Ms. Tang has been studying under the tutelage of Yelena Ivanov. In addition to her many musical awards and scholarships, Tang is an honor student and a member of both the National Honor Society and the French Honor Society.

Under the direction of Youth and Outreach Program Director John Bernstein, the SMF's Community Outreach is a very important part of the Shandelee Music Festival's philosophies and goals, taking young artists to various venues where they play for, and discuss music with, individuals who may not otherwise have the opportunity to experience a live classical concert. The Festival believes that part of an artist's growth must include developing a sense of community and sharing with others.

And Bernstein can attest to the community's enjoyment of the program. "It's always fantastic to see the power music has to enhance our world," he said. "Throughout each performance, the room was filled with looks of happiness, excitement, and pure joy from each audience member as they followed every note Brianna performed. It was truly amazing to not only hear such a spectacular performance of difficult repertoire, but to watch it brighten the day of everyone in the room."
